West Receives National Bellamy

On October 12, 1892, the 400th anniversary of Columbus's discovery of the New World, Francis Bellamy introduced his "Pledge to the Flag." His purpose was to inspire the school children of his day in patriotic ideals. The success of this pledge is evidenced in its widespread use throughout America and the love-of-country promoted in each person's heart as the Pledge is repeated.

Miss Margarette S. Miller, having sought six years to substantiate the authorship of the Pledge, established the National Bellamy Flag Award in 1942. Rome Free Academy, the high school attended by Francis Bellamy, was the first recipient of the Award. One secondary school, representative of high quality in citizenship, is designated to receive the Award each year. As the twenty-first school to be so honored, West High School received the Award on October 12, 1962. Through the past twenty years, the Bellamy Award has grown in recognition and significance. 511 messages, sent from all areas of the nation, congratulated West High. Highlighting the list were the telegram received from President John F. Kennedy and letters received from former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover and Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson. Central High School of Chattanooga, Tennessee, will take its place among the Bellamy family of schools on October 12, 1963.

Miss Miller previews the Bellamy edition of the Spectator.

West High welcomed the arrival of adult guests, nine official Bellamy school representatives, and six unofficial student guests. Numerous social activities preluded the anticipated Bellamy Award Program during the preceding week. Student hosts and hostesses were accompanied to their classes by the student delegates, who learned of the Wahawak way-of-life. The Bellamy display case, the Bellamy plaque, donated by the Class of 1962, and the special twelve-page Bellamy issue of the Spectator interested West High students and visitors alike. Following a banquet held by the Student Senate, a mock-senate meeting was staged which exemplified West's student government system. Guests also toured the Waterloo area and attended a pot-luck supper at the home of Jane Young. A luncheon for the guests by the Waterloo Chamber of Commerce followed the Bellamy Award Program. All events proved the hospitality of Waterloo West.

Sunnyside Country Club was the scene of the luncheon for special guests following the program Friday morning.

Flag Presentation Highlights

The pride felt by every West High student on the morning of October 12, 1962, cannot be denied. Yet the solemn meaning embodied in the presentation of the Bellamy Flag Award to our student body humbled our spirits. Live television coverage for the first time allowed interested persons viewing of the impressive assembly. Greetings from Bellamy school representatives as well as Iowa Congressmen Bourke Hickenlooper and Jack Miller and Governor Norman Erbe were augmented by the stirring musical numbers of the West High band and chorus. For the first time David Bellamy, Jr., grandson of Francis Bellamy, took part in the Bellamy Award Program. Climaxing the ceremonies, Miss Margarette S. Miller presented the flag, which on May 18, 1962, Francis Bellamy's birthday, had flown over the Capitol, to West High School, the twenty-first school to receive the Award. L. A. Pat Touchae, Executive Vice-President of the Waterloo Chamber of Commerce, accepted the flag for the alumni. President of the West High Student Senate, Keith Meyerhoff, accepted the flag for the student body.

Bellamy Ceremony Host

In fitting conclusion to the ceremonies, the color guard raised the flag on the West High School flag pole against the musical background of the chorus's "America the Beautiful" and a trumpet's echoing salute. West High will ever hold high the ideals represented by the Bellamy Flag Award and the flag of the United States of America.

Festivities

An impressive color guard stands at attention.

From students to saleswomen? Student Senators Kathy Sieben, Susan Caines, Sue Hurst, and Judy Miller testify to the famous Wahawk versatility by helping with the Senate-sponsored candy sale.

ACTIVITIES . . . Fun, Leadership, Cooperation

Too much practicing, boys? John Cooney, Dan Wolfe, Jerry Grinstead, John Roof, and Roger Wagner will be remembered as the talented student cheerleaders of the Student-Faculty Basketball Game.

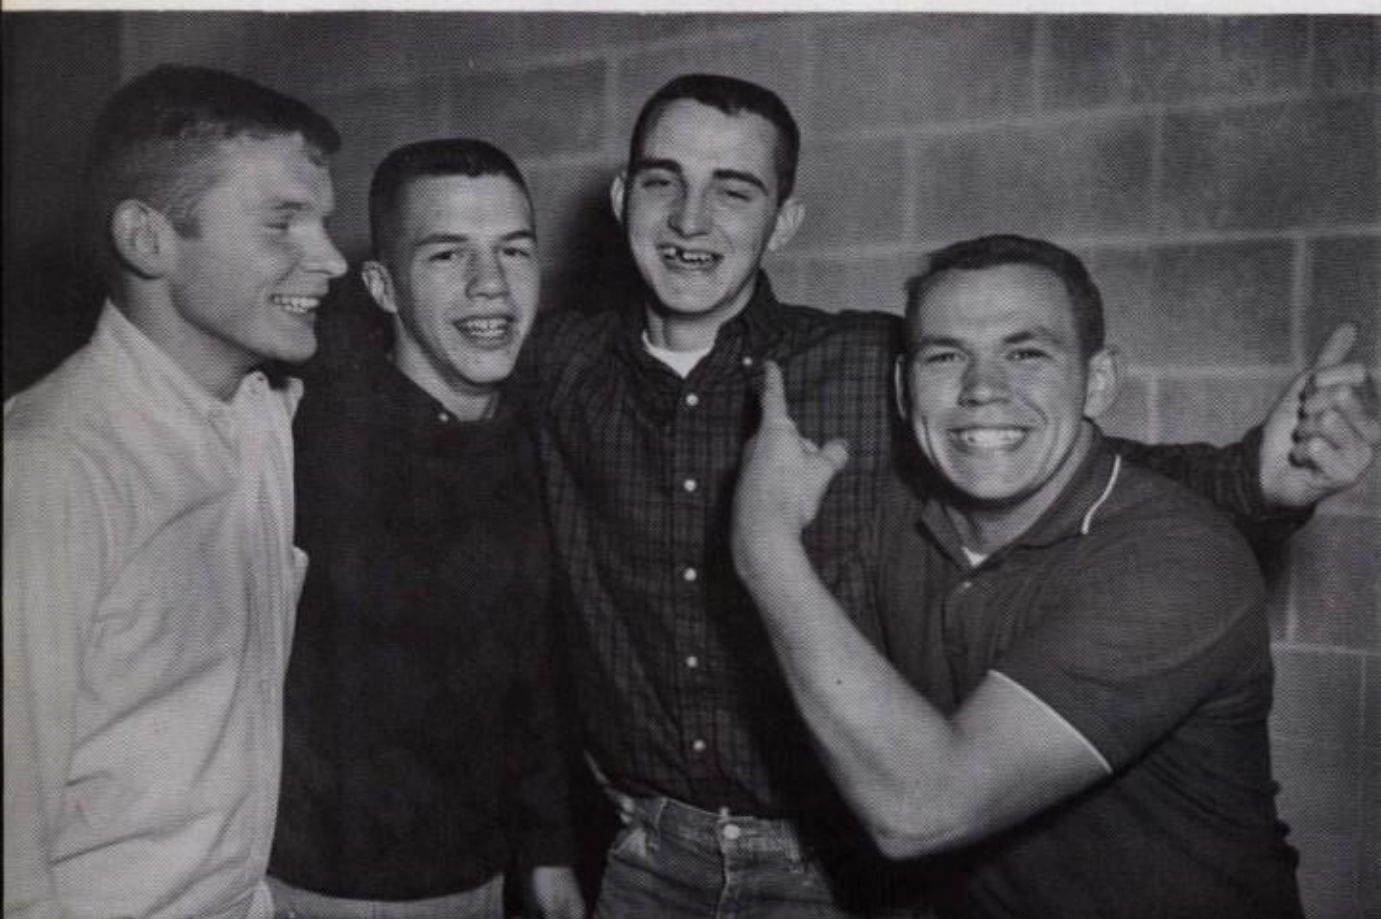

In the future Dick Miller will refrain from complaining about a date being late; he is now experienced in the trials of makeup. However, Linda Kuenstling seems to be having her own troubles. Either we need taller makeup girls or shorter dancers.

FEATURES . . . Excitement, Talent, Creativity

The sweet, lonesome melody of the Scottish folksong sung by Barb Hall echoes throughout the auditorium at a Variety Show practice.

Co - captains John Cooney, Rick Brecunier, and Don Haugen inspect a casualty of the football wars, fellow co-captain, toothless Dick Miller.

ATHLETICS . . . Pep, Teamwork, Sportsmanship

Drumming up spirit for a heated varsity battle is senior cheerleader, Marcia Smith.

Barb Soppe snatches a few minutes break from the round of after-school activities to prepare for another day of classes.

STUDENTS... Challenges, Preparation, Achievement

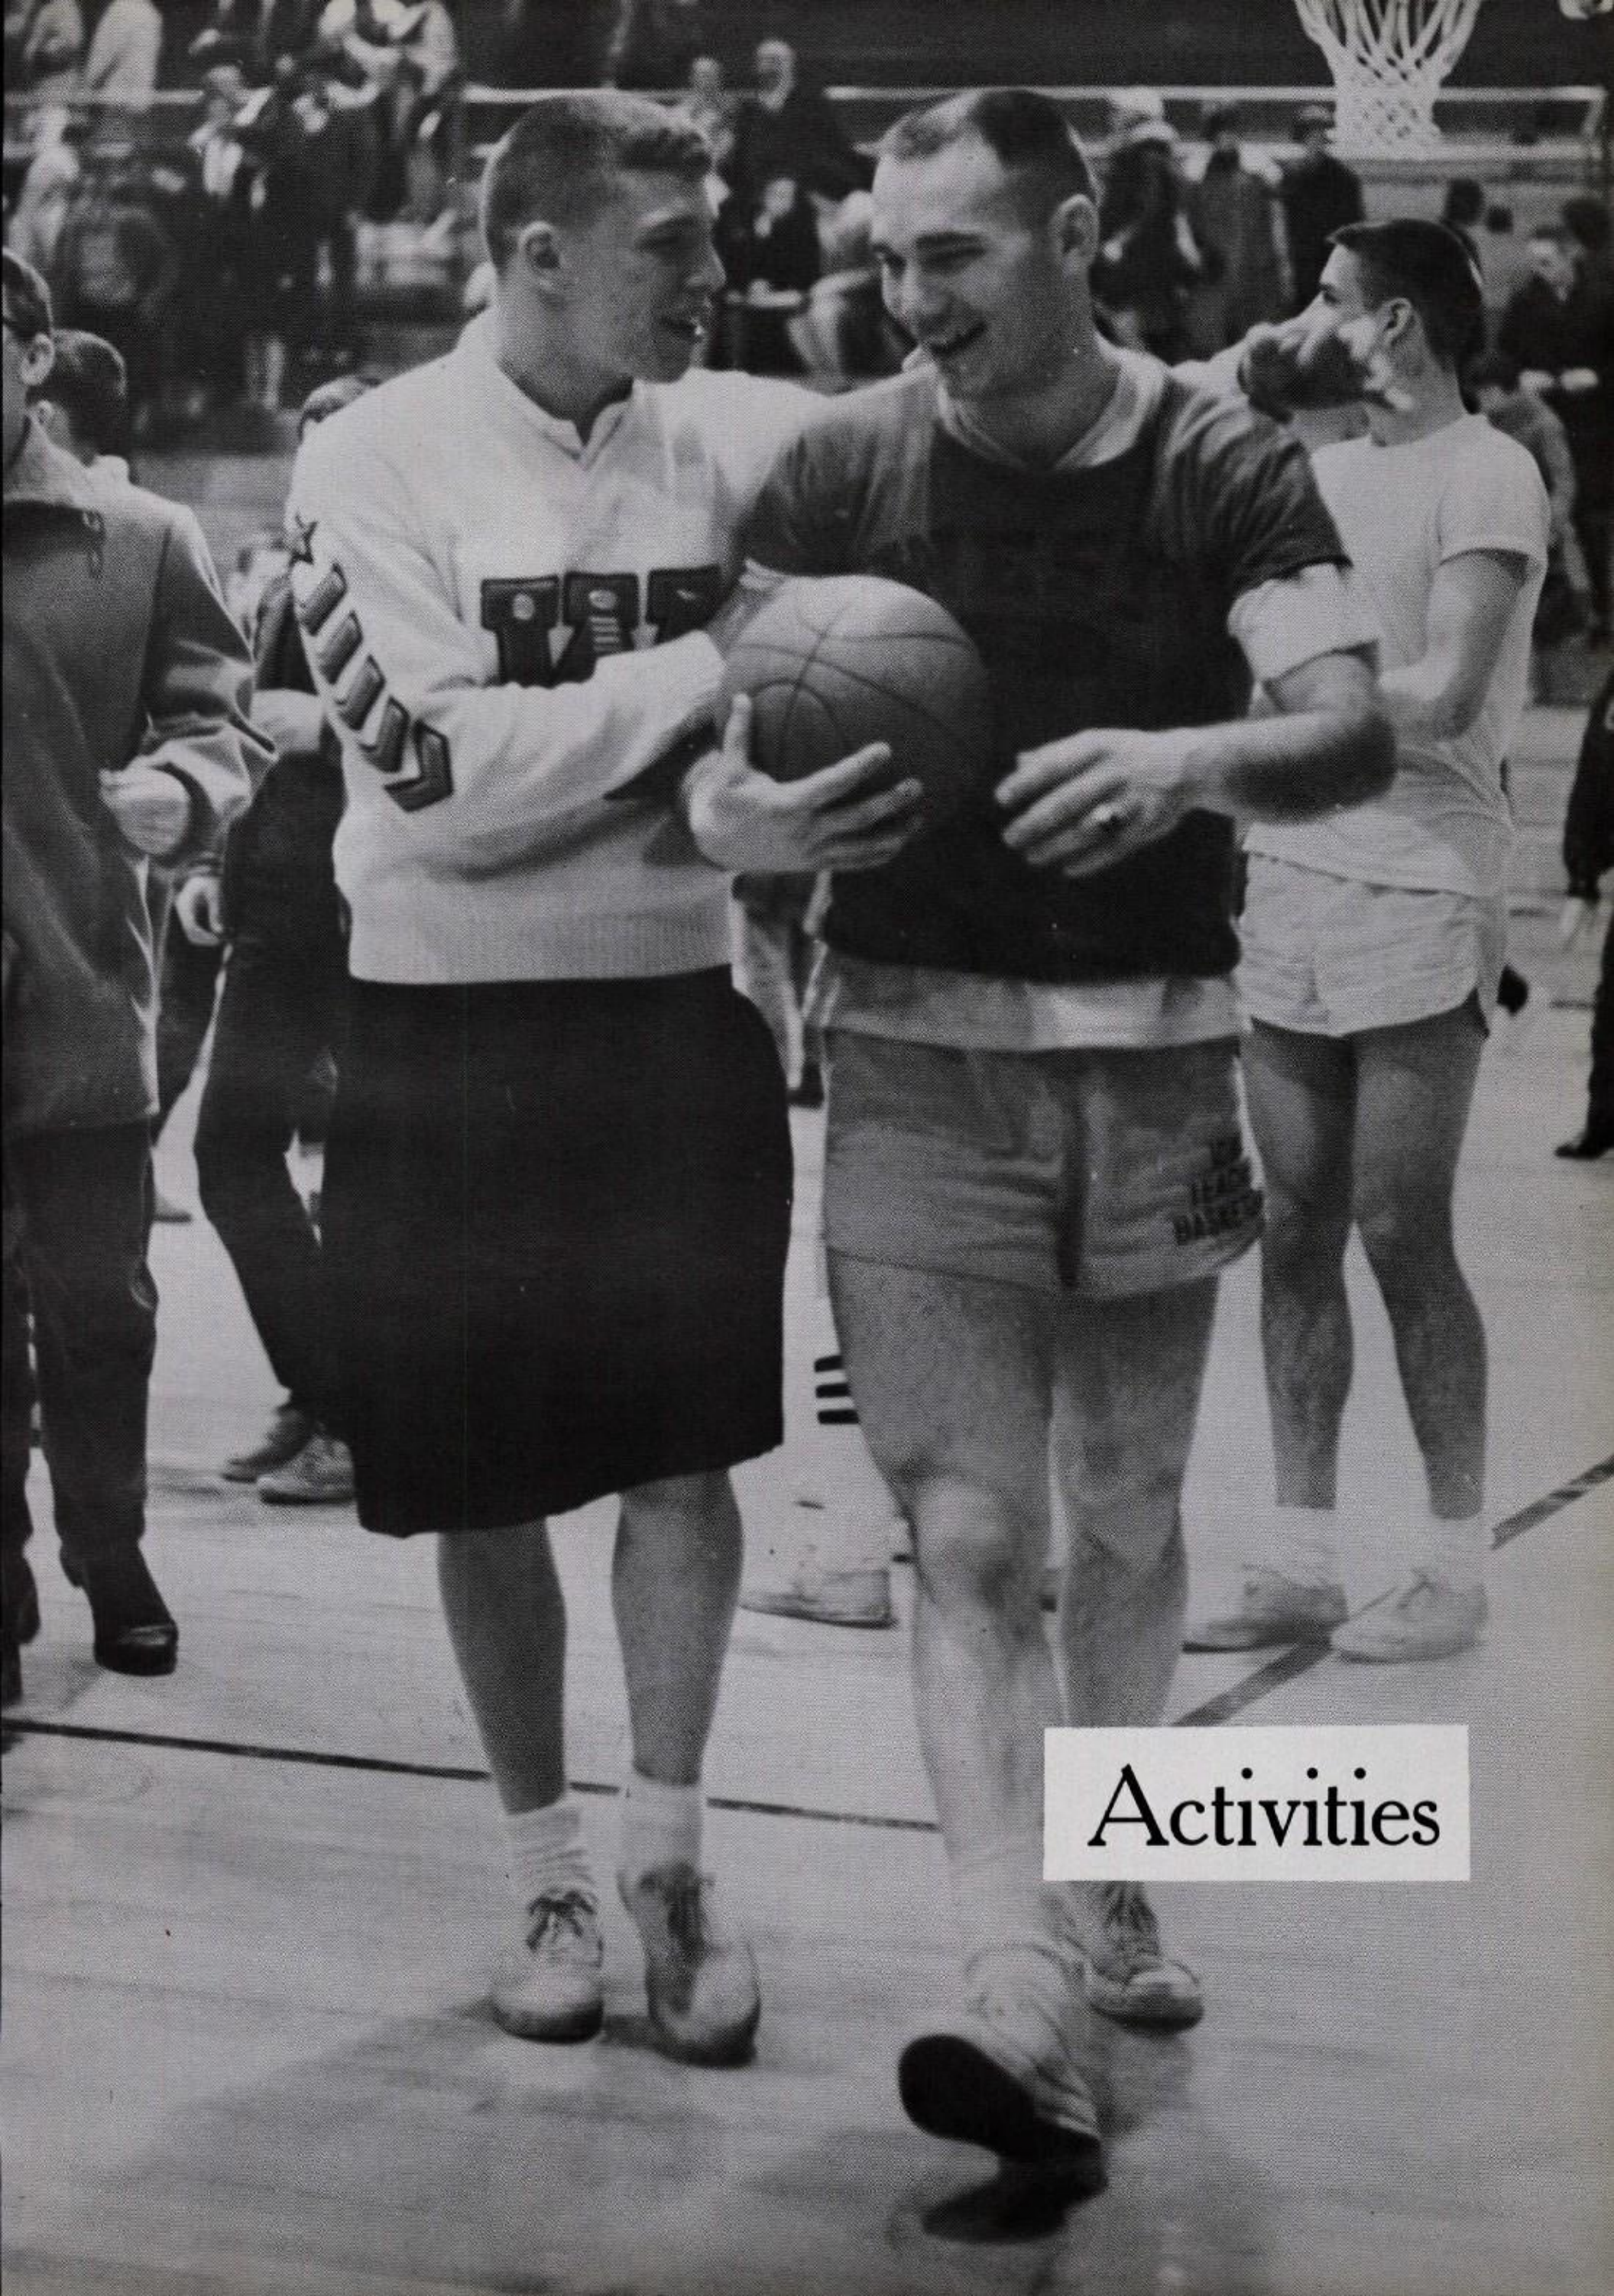

Either Nancy Cormany has adopted reading Chinese style or there is an ulterior motive behind this hasty concentration exhibited by Nancy and Kathy Sisson. Perhaps a member of our illustrious faculty inspired this devotion to duty.

FOREWORD

Time may be of one generation or another, physical surroundings may vary from simple to complex, custom and order may follow changing fashion, but for education there can be only one fundamental source of strength — the strength of a teacher-student relationship. Seldom are the sparks of inspiration more than pinpoints of future hope; routine overshadows moments of excitement. Yet there is respect, trust, and inherent direction toward individual and community growth recorded on the pages that follow. For here, in this year of 1963, as always in the past and ever in the future, “those bearing torches shall pass them on to others.” —Plato

Senate Heads Tricameral

The Student Senate is the established basis of government by the students at West High. Through the sound organization of this group and the capability of the members who were elected to its membership, the Student Senate fulfilled its responsibility of governing the student body. The duties and activities of the senators this school year were many.

In the first semester the plans for the Bellamy Award Week and the reorganization of the student government system to include individual class officers presented additional responsibilities. Senate I also sponsored the cake walk in the fall and the canned-foods drive. The Thrift Committee put out the student directory. Accepting the challenge of these responsibilities, Student Senate I was headed by Keith Meyerhoff, president; Bob Kress, vice-president; and Kathy Sieben, secretary.

Planning for the variety show and the junior-senior prom were among the duties carried out by the second semester senators. In addition, a candy sale was promoted from which $150 of the proceeds went to the Dollars for Scholars fund and $100 went to the Waterloo Recreation Commission. The Student-Faculty Basketball Game, sponsored by the Senate, was a success. The proceeds from the game and the cake walk went to the fund to bring an A.F.S. student to West next year. Nick Anton, president; Mike Girsch, vice-president; and Bob Weed, secretary, served as officers of the second semester Senate.

Home Room Presidents Form Gaveliers

As an equal member of West High's three-house student government, Gaveliers is recognized as an organization of importance. For the first year, Gaveliers, whose members are the presidents of their home rooms, met during school time once every three weeks on a rotation basis with Student Senate and Activities Council. The primary purpose of Gaveliers is to help the home room presidents to serve their home rooms better. This purpose was accomplished through discussion of the problems which occur on the home room level and instruction in parliamentary procedure. The first semester officers were Jay Harmon, president; Joy Gellerman, vice-president; and Steve Potter, secretary. The second semester officers were Paul Bixby, president; Kenny Caines, vice-president; Rita Shellenberger, secretary; and Phil Woodward, treasurer. Mr. Sodergren advised the Gaveliers.

Activities Council Coordinates Organizations

The Activities Council completed West's three-house government system. This being its second year of existence, the Activities Council was a relative newcomer to West's governing bodies. With the help of guidance counselor, Mr. Scholl, this group met its duty of coordinating the activities of the many extra-curricular clubs and organizations. The members of Activities Council were the presidents and editors of these numerous groups. These active Wahawks revised their own constitution as well as considering the constitutions of new clubs before recognizing them as chartered groups. Activities Council also accepted the responsibility of revising the allotment of Golden W service points. First semester officers were president, Nick Anton; vice-president, Bill Edwards; and secretary, Rick Brecunier. Second semester officers were president, Roger Pech; vice-president, Kathy Sisson; and secretary, Bill Edwards.

A. F. S. Exemplifies World Understanding

World peace and understanding — the American Field Service works through its program of foreign youth exchange to promote the attainment of these goals. Through the American Field Service program, Torben Ivarsson, the fourth A.F.S. student to attend West High, came to the United States from Denmark. "The Dane," as Torben's friends called him, soon became a part of the student body.

The second foreign student to attend West High this year was Liisa Hollmen. Liisa, who was sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Waterloo through the International Christian Youth Exchange, was from Salo, Finland. Both Liisa and Torben taught West High of life in their Scandinavian homes as they lived as typical Wahawks.

As ambassadors of the United States and West Waterloo, Judy Rugg and Leslie Loomis returned to West High from their travels abroad. They were the first representatives from West High to go abroad through the American Field Service program. Wellington, New Zealand, had been Judy's home from December, 1961, through August, 1962. Leslie had become a member of a family in Bayerisch Gmain, Germany, during the summer of 1962. Upon their return these girls shared their experiences with West High students.

Honor Club Stirs Interest in Intellect

Honor Club is an organization which recognizes scholastic achievement. Members of Honor Club must maintain at least a 3.40 grade point average for three consecutive semesters. Honor Club met once a month under faculty advisors Miss Zeuch and Mr. Stansbury. Among the programs which were derived from a variety of areas, were a talk by Nerissa Forbes, who spoke about her native land, the Philippines, and a talk by Roger Pech, who spoke about his trip to the United Nations. Slides were shown as Mr. Stansbury talked about his trip to the Wisconsin Dells. First semester Honor Club was led by president, Kathy Lowe; vice-president, Joy Gellerman; secretary, Rosann Eagan; and treasurer, Barbara Lowe. Second semester officers were president, Dolores Lohff; vice-president, Jane Anton; secretary, Barb Ruish; and treasurer, Marsha Mark.

Honor Club holds election of second semester officers at an informal meeting in the Student Center.

Reports News and Views at West

The biweekly publication of the Spectator was a part of the life at West High. A combination of entertaining feature stories of interest, factual news accounts of all school events, and skillful photography produced an excellent school paper, appreciated by West High students and faculty. The reporters and energetic editorial and business staffs worked under faculty advisor Mr. Robert Button and editor-in-chief Roger Pech.

As a part of the events of the Bellamy Award Week, a special twelve-page issue of the Spectator was published. The issue included news coverage of the events of Bellamy Week, numerous feature articles related to the Bellamy Award, and a list of five hundred people from whom congratulatory messages were received. Copies of the Bellamy issue were sent throughout the United States.

WAHAWK Is Result of Year-Long Effort

The production of a yearbook involves much hard work. Yet this work is most rewarding. The staff of the 1963 WAHAWK wished to produce a yearbook which would keep alive the memories of this 1962-1963 school year through photographs and print. Judy Krantz, as editor-in-chief, headed the staff which introduced many new features to this book. An increased number of pages, a new style of print, and the use of the West High seal on the cover were among the innovations. The completion of the yearbook combined the work of many, each striving to do his job thoroughly. Whether in developing photographs or planning page layouts, the annual staff worked to produce a yearbook which would excel the ordinary — the 1963 WAHAWK.

Cheerleaders Spark West's Pep

That intangible "something" which makes West High's spirit the greatest is no secret to West High's cheerleaders. Both the varsity and sophomore cheerleaders know that spirit comes only with work and determination. Pep assemblies and athletic events found the cheerleading squad front and center, with an unlimited supply of pep to cheer on the Wahawk athletes.

Pep Club Boosts Spirit for

West High's Pep Club had many members, and its members had a big responsibility — backing all West High athletes with pep and enthusiasm. Under president Cathy Casberg the Pep Club promoted school spirit through organizing cheering sections, painting signs, and sponsoring bus trips to out-of-town games. The victory breakfasts held before important games and the banquet held for the football squad the week of the East-West game boosted the spirit of the entire student body.

Terps, Pavs, and Des Moiselles

Dressed in black tights and aqua blue dance outfits, the senior girls of Terpsichorea could be found working on their dance routines in the girls' gym, boys' gym balcony, or the auditorium. After school on Tuesdays and Fridays were the regular meeting times of these seventeen girls, although they often worked with other dance groups on other afternoons and before school. At the beginning of the school year, Mrs. Kramer, faculty advisor, instructed the members in basic modern dance techniques. As the dates for the Variety Show neared, the girls concentrated on developing the choreography for dances. As well as working out the numbers in which they appeared themselves, the Terps members instructed other dance lines. Divided into groups, they worked with tap line, soft shoe line, opening line, folk dance, and boys' novelty. Kathy Sisson and Ann Platt held the offices of president and secretary respectively.

The members of Pavlovians were junior girls who were interested in learning about modern dance through their own experience. These girls as members of last year's Des Moiselles, the sophomore modern dance club, had tried out before faculty judges for membership in Pavlovians. In turn, the members of Terpsichorea, the senior modern dance club, will be selected for next year from the members of Pavlovians. For this reason, the junior girls were intent on learning modern dance skills in preparation for next year. Preparing novelty numbers with which to try out for the Variety Show also occupied much of the time of the Pavs. "By the Sea" was a comical novelty number in the Variety Show, danced by Pavlovian members. President of Pavs was Pam Hausman, vice-president was Anne Simonson, and secretary was Carolyn Fouts.

The role of modern dance and choreography among West High's extra-curricular activities was an important one. The purpose of Des Moinesettes was to instigate and promote an interest in modern dance among sophomore girls. The Des Moinesettes elected officers and divided into four groups in the fall. The four groups created individual dances and presented them to the members of the other groups. Des Moinesettes who wished to joined with the girls of Pavlovians and Terpsichorea on Tuesday afternoons to learn dance techniques from Mrs. Kramer. The officers were Rita Shellenberger, president; Cindy Van Vlack, vice-president; and Claire Field, secretary.

Directors Govern Student Center

Before school and during fourth hour were busy times for the Student Activities Directors, whose job it was to keep the Student Center in order. In addition, these four active Wahawks arranged the furniture for the Student Senate meetings and aided the Senate in fund-raising sales and drives. With the help of faculty advisor, Mr. Sodergren, the directors also helped in planning moonlight dances.

Our Student Center hosts and hostesses were Judy Miller, Rick Brecunier, Sue Hurst, Nick Anton, and Bob Huffman.

Four Attend Boys' State

Boys' State 1962 was an exciting and interesting week for the four West High boys who were among the 766 Iowa boys representing their communities. Don Sieben, Keith Meyerhoff, Dick Miller, and Jay Harmon participated in mock-party conventions, campaigns, and elections. Jay Harmon was elected a Supreme Court Judge, and Keith Meyerhoff, who served as chairman of the Federalist state convention and party campaign chairman, was appointed executive secretary to the Governor. All representatives learned much about the system of our state government. Along with Nord Brue, Governor of Boys' State, Keith was selected to attend Boys' Nation. West Waterloo might well be proud of its representatives at these conventions of America's young leaders.

Dick Miller, Jay Harmon, Don Sieben, and Keith Meyerhoff reminisce over their experiences at Boys' State.

Bible Club Studies "John"

During weekly meetings, members of Bible Club met in intense study of the Book of John with ministers from the Waterloo area. President Duane Akeright, vice-president Susan Aeby, and secretary Sally Schrock led this group, which was advised by Mrs. Keiber and Mr. Karl Anderson.

Flag Boys Render Service

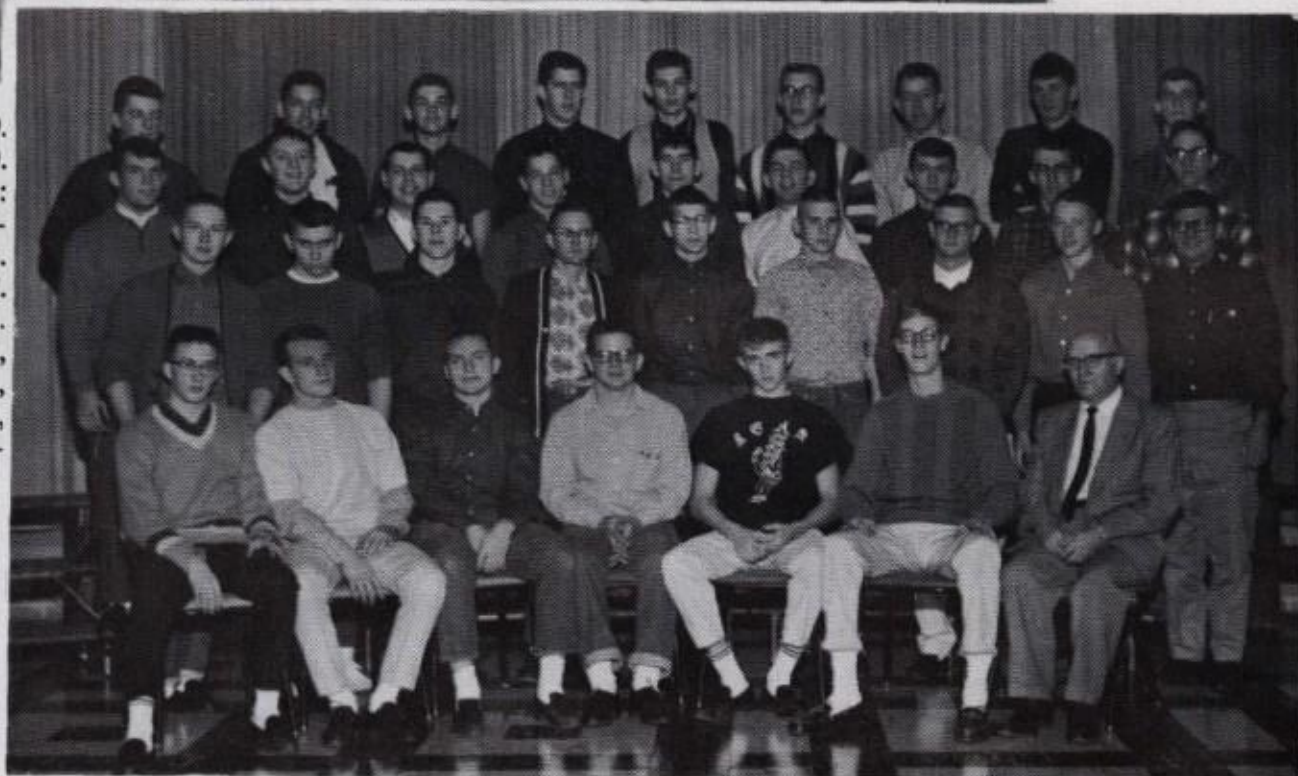

Although the raising of our national flag was a daily occurrence at West High, it was not a mere routine. This ceremony, performed by the members of Flag Service, was one of sincere patriotism. The boys who participated in Flag Service were Dave Duke, Bill Niedert, Mike Shimp, Dave Dallner, Bob Duke, and Tom Isenhower.

Y-Teens, Hi-Y Develop Varied Interests

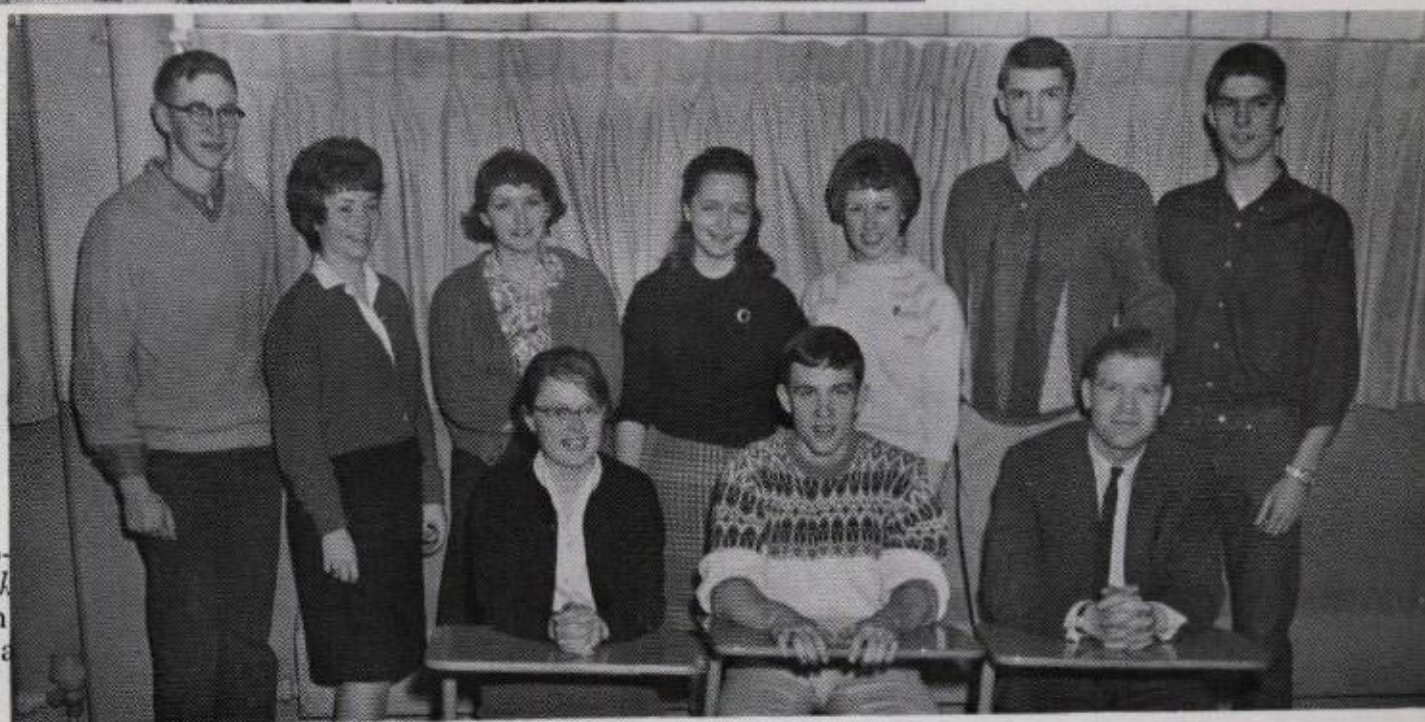

An exceptionally busy club at West High was the Y-Teens. This club, being affiliated with the YWCA, participated in programs through the Y and provided table decorations and served at two dinners at the Y. Discussions and guest speakers provided the programs for the meetings which were held twice each month. During the Christmas season the Y-Teens provided food, clothing, and gifts for a needy Waterloo family. Because of the good attendance and participation by members, West's Y-Teens Club was recognized as the most active Y-Teens group in Iowa. The club was represented at both the northeast district and state conferences. Carol Moe, president; Lynda Fox, vice-president; Linda Beaton, secretary; Donna Schutte, treasurer; Jeanne Wenthe, Interclub Council representative; and Mrs. Scott, faculty advisor, led the club.

An active group of West High boys participated in Hi-Y, a club associated with the YMCA. A variety of programs filled the club's schedule this year. The boys traveled to the Waverly Air-Force Base and also toured the Titus Manufacturing Company. Guest speakers who spoke at the club's meetings were Dr. Vorland, a hypnotist; two hockey players; and Bill Koll, head wrestling coach at the State College of Iowa. Hi-Y officers were Paul Bixby, president; Joe Newburn, vice-president; Ron Wilharm, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Mikelson, chaplain. Mr. Huff was the faculty advisor.

Newly-Formed Language Clubs Stir Interest

A newly formed language club at West was the French Club. Organized in February, the members of French Club wrote the constitution for their group. With programs based on France or the French language, the club met on the first and third Tuesdays of every month. The officers of French Club were president, Diane Pedersen; vice-president, Karen Plager; secretary, Vicki Argotsinger; and treasurer, Santha Tabor.

German Club, whose faculty advisor was "Herr" Benesh, was open for membership not only to German students but also to any student interested in the German language and culture. Slides and movies of Germany interested the members. At Christmas time the German Club had a party which featured German conversation, singing, and refreshments. Officers were Bill Edwards, president; Nick Anton, vice-president; and Leslie Loomis, secretary.

The Spanish Club was organized during the second semester of the school year. A major purpose of Spanish Club was to allow the members to hear Spanish spoken by native speakers. A student at State College of Iowa, Miss Daniela Salvadori, who is from Venezuela, spoke to the club in both English and Spanish. Telling of her trip to Mexico, Judy Rugg also spoke to the group. The officers were president, Dave Wilson; vice-president, Jeanne Seiple; secretary, Tom McGowan; and treasurer, Pat Scott.

Future Nurses Volunteer as Hospital Aids

The Future Nurses Club learned much about the medical profession this year through guest speakers and personal experience. Volunteer work at Schoitz Hospital gave the girls who worked there first hand views of work in nursing. Civil Defense First Aid and a profession as a dental assistant were among the topics presented by guest speakers. The senior members of Future Nurses took a field trip to Independence, which proved very interesting. President of Future Nurses was Vicki Venter, vice-president was Carolyn Fouts, secretary was Kay Martens, and treasurer was Sue Mettlin. Mrs. Sheldahl and Mrs. Emerson advised the club.

Future Teachers Show Concern For Tomorrow's Youth

A possible future in the teaching profession was the common interest of the members of the Future Teachers Club. Throughout the year guest speakers acquainted the members with various fields of education. Child psychology and speech therapy were among the topics discussed at the monthly meetings. This club was led by Barbara Lowe, president; Mary Ellen Peffer, vice president; Jean Thompson, secretary; Ann Hecklinger, treasurer; and Mrs. Stecher, faculty advisor.

Science, Math Clubs Explore

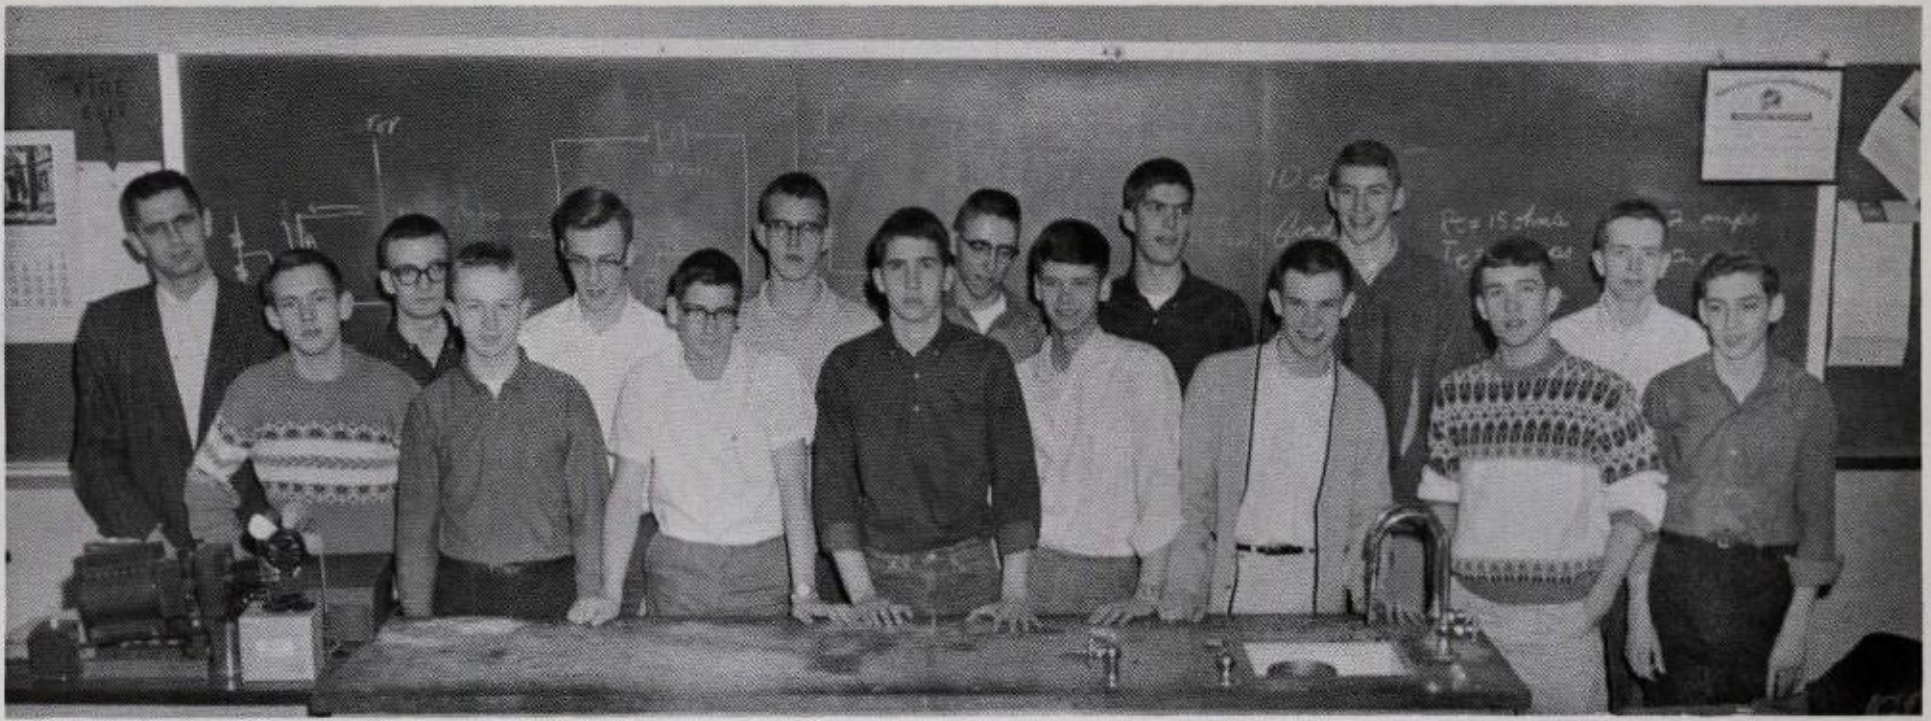

Members of Math Club explored many topics related to mathematics which aren't normally discussed in class. In the weekly meetings such subjects as secret codes, computing devices, and truth statements were explored. Unusual geometry problems were worked out. The members also prepared for the Math Contest Test. As a fund raising project, the Math Club sold pizza. Mr. Stansbury advised the club while Barton Uze, president, and Nancy Casteel, recorder, served as first semester officers, and Mike O'Connell, president, and Barton Uze, recorder, served as second semester officers.

Wahawks interested in star-gazing joined together in Astronomy Club under Miss Smith's direction. The observatory was the scene of the club's "star parties." In the regular meetings topics such as "The Movement of Stars" were discussed. Geoffrey Lear led the club as president, while Marsha Swartz and Barb Lowe served as vice-president and secretary respectively.

Challenges of Modern World

The Junior Engineering Technical Society investigated the field of engineering at its meetings, held twice each month. Through the discussions, guest speakers, and movies shown at the JETS meetings, members were able to decide whether their interests in engineering as a future profession were real. JETS also took a field trip to Iowa State University at Ames. Nick Anton served as president, Torben Ivarsson as vice-president, and Dick Rath as secretary-treasurer. Faculty advisor was Mr. Vilmain.

A new organization at West High composed of HAM radio operators was the West High Amateur Radio Society. These boys shared their interest in amateur radio transmission with people young and old throughout the world. As well as organizing their new club, the boys acquired a Federal Communications Commission amateur license for West High, the call letters being WAOESN. Officers of WHARS were Gary Buxton, president; John Hammelman, vice-president; and Fritz Raab, secretary.

Assistants Serve in Gym, Pool

Gym assistants, towel girls, towel boys, and poolguards were members of one of the busiest service groups in West High. Assisting in attendance-taking and record-keeping, as well as the handling of towels, were some of the duties of these energetic students. The poolguards were present in each pool class as life guards. This group was indispensable to the smooth-running organization of all physical education classes.

Vocational Programs Provide Experience

West High students participating in either the Co-op or Trades and Industries Program were able to prepare themselves for full-time employment after graduation. Co-op students held part-time clerical and secretarial jobs while Trades and Industries students learned a specific skill. These students attended three classes each day at West High and worked part-time for a Waterloo employer. Through these programs, advised by Miss Knoche and Mr. Crowley, the students received invaluable insights into their future occupations.

Girls Perform Various

The matters which are handled through the main office are innumerable. Yet each situation was handled calmly and capably by the office personnel. Secretaries, Mrs. Grange and Mrs. Little, who worked closely with the administration, were integral members of the office staff. At the switchboard and inter-com before school and during each period throughout the school day were student assistants. Errand girls, who delivered messages to students and faculty, completed the active personnel of the main office.

Services for Administration

Every West High student is familiar with departmental English tests, such as the vocabulary tests and thirty-line tests. Each time such a test was given, the English office assistants were busy checking the papers, tabulating errors, and recording scores. Working under Miss Wagner were Mrs. Roland Enos and the student assistants. They were always active keeping records, distributing materials, and running errands.

Mrs. Robert Reese, who worked in the social studies office in the morning, worked in the English office during the afternoons.

The duties of the attendance office increased in proportion to the enrollment of West's student body. Mrs. Elno Beran, attendance officer, was responsible for the recording of all absences and tardies during each school day. She was aided by student assistants who filled out admit and tardy slips. The importance of this service is easily recognized. Every senior who applied for admission to a college feels indebted to Mrs. Beran. As a part of her duties, Mrs. Beran filled out grade transcripts for students who were candidates for admission and sent the transcripts on to the colleges. Mrs. Bernard Eyestone, a teacher's aide, assisted Miss Kurtzweil with secretarial chores.

Student Assistants Help Many

As helpers to Mrs. Sheldahl, the nurse's office assistants performed many tasks. They were called upon to treat a variety of minor injuries. The assistants, one of whom was always present in the nurse's office, also kept and filed personal health records of West High students.

The busy schedule of our Director of Athletics, Mr. Strobridge, includes much paper work. Through secretarial work, the athletic office assistants aided Mr. Strobridge considerably. These girls were kept busy with the many records and letters handled by the athletic office.

Departments

Librarian Miss Wordehoff was ably assisted in her work by the library assistants. The assistants, who were in charge of the lending of books and magazines and the returning of books to the shelves, helped to maintain a true "library" atmosphere for the students.

Aiding Mr. Kitzman during his art classes was the duty of the student art assistants. These six students, who helped in the organization of the art classes, worked on service art projects such as the stage settings for the plays and the variety show.

Movies are an effective means of presenting information to students, whether in a physical education class or a physics class. Giving up their libraries to operate the movie projectors, the movie operators presented the educational films to the classrooms. These boys worked under the direction of Miss Shellard.

West High students will readily admit that the food served each day in the cafeteria was pretty terrific. Under the direction of Mrs. Cochran and Mr. Kersensbrock, the cafeteria satisfied the acute appetites of the Wahawk student body. Student cafeteria workers helped in serving the food as well as in washing the dishes.

The care of our school was the job of the custodians. Their thoroughness was evidenced by the bright appearance of all hallways and classrooms. With their sincere interest in school affairs and their good-natured attitudes, the custodians, headed by Mr. Kristensen, were truly a beloved part of the school body.

Features

Highlight of the Homecoming assembly was "West Review" with John Rooff reminiscing.

1962 Homecoming Is A Success

"Chief" Keith Meyerhoff and "Old Timer" John Rooff salute old grads, and Mr. Gibson greets Mr. Glenn (Red) Whittle, of the class of 1912.

West alumni and students alike will long remember October 19, 1962, as the perfect homecoming. Spirited activities began homecoming week with the decoration of West's halls by class committees and the sale of "mums" by A Chorus. Homecoming morning found the student body rehearsing for the pep rally to be held that afternoon. Based on the fashions and cheers of years gone by, the pep assembly skit, "West Review," amused all Wahawks. Attending alumni found that the Wahawk spirit was even more enthusiastic than in their own high school days. Mr. Red Whittle, an outstanding athlete who graduated from West in 1912, represented his class as they held a fifty-year class reunion. The Class of 1953, represented by Mrs. Maro See, held a ten-year class reunion. With the support of all Wahawks, the football team defeated St. Edmunds of Fort Dodge 46-0. A moonlight dance held after the game ended a thrilling Homecoming - 1962.

Pep Band, Flagtwirlers Entertain Fans

Walk into any pep assembly or home basketball game, and you'll find the Wahawk student body singing and clapping in rhythm to the lively songs played by West's Pep Band. This group of thirty-one members of the West High Band kept West's spirit high during the half-times of basketball games. Members of Pep Band held a candy sale to raise money to attend the West-Mason City game at Mason City, where they entertained at the half.

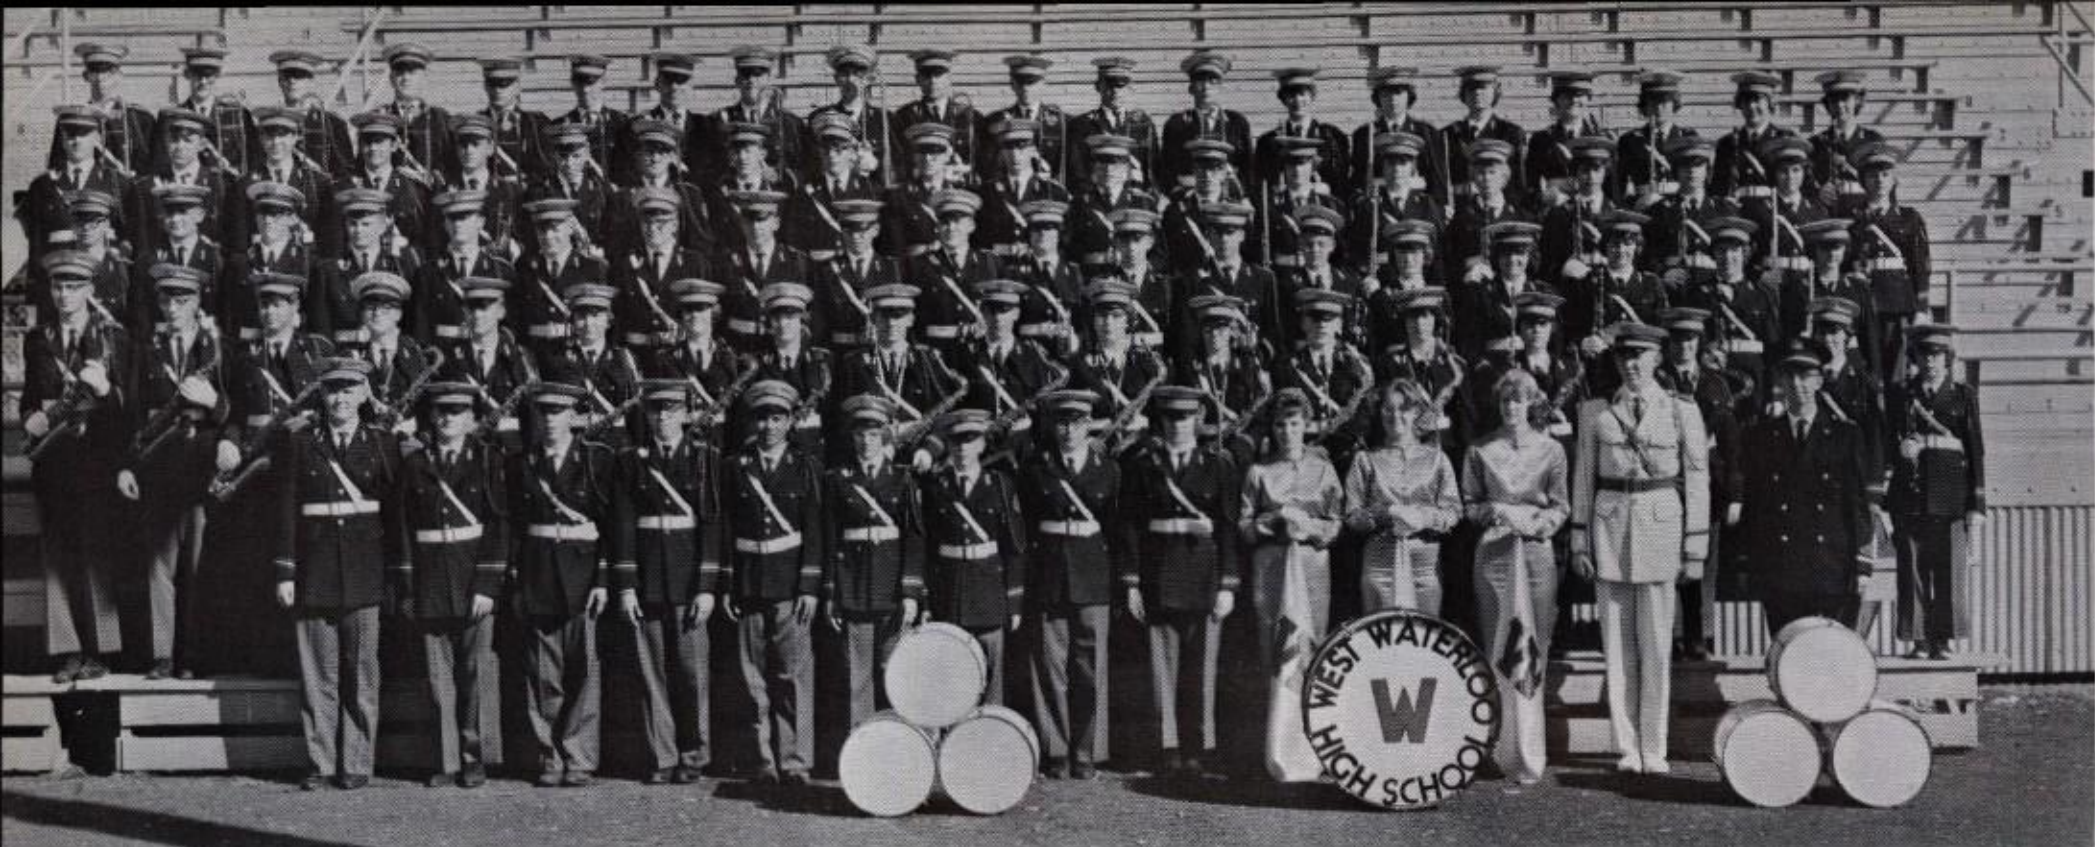

The Flagtwirlers, headed by captain Kathy Sisson, were a familiar part of the Marching Band performances during the football season. This year the Flagtwirlers initiated a new performing group as pom-pom girls. Appearing in bright red and white outfits, the pom-pom girls danced routines to the Pep Band's music at home basketball games.

Mr. Baker directs the pep band in a lively number during halftime at a home basketball game.

Marching Band's Season

Working energetically and unendingly the West High Band filled the 1962-1963 year with many successful performances. Each home football game found the Marching Band entertaining the fans at half-time with intricate maneuvers based on clever themes. A paddle wheel showboat moved across the football field in the show, "The Birth of Jazz." "The Surrey with the Fringe on the Top" was drawn by the flagtwirlers acting as prancing horses in the show, "Highlights from Oklahoma." Climaxing the marching season, the combined first and fourth hour bands showed their respect for band director, Mr. Richard Baker, by forming a block "B" and playing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" much to Mr. Baker's surprise.

The Concert Bands proved their merit in performing in the Bellamy Award Assembly, student assemblies, the Evening of Music, and the Tri-School Music Festival. Swing Band, Pep Band, flagtwirlers, and bellringers were among the smaller groups derived from the West High Band. This organization kept West High musically in step throughout the school year.

Drum Majors Marianne Burke, Tom Ellis, and Anne Simonsen led Marching Band.

Orchestra Gains Symphony

All Wahawks might well be proud of the West High School Symphony Orchestra, which has lived up to the challenge of its title, "symphony." Under the direction of Mr. Anthony Bacich, this musical organization has truly grown "by leaps and bounds." Thirty-seven full-time and part-time string musicians and twenty-seven wind musicians comprised the orchestra. The rapid growth of the orchestra, which has nearly tripled in size in the past three years, may be credited to the initiative shown by Mr. Bacich, the musicians themselves, and the cooperation of Mr. Gibson and the entire student body. The orchestra performed well in its many appearances. Playing between the acts of the fall and spring play productions, the orchestra provided entertaining interludes. A student assembly was presented in December. The selection, "Finlandia," played in the student assembly, was dedicated to Finnish foreign exchange student, Liisa Hollmen. The orchestra, along with the West High band and chorus, also performed in the Christmas program and the Evening of Music. Joining with the orchestras of East High and Cedar Falls High, these musicians participated in the Tri-School Music Festival. This year the orchestra members elected Connie Baker as president, Julie Bopp as vice-president, and Rosann Eagan as secretary-treasurer. A candy sale and a party were among the activities sponsored by this organization.

Chorus A Scores Musical

A busy schedule of musical performances filled the year for the members of Chorus A. The members, both junior and senior students, worked under the direction of Mr. Vincent McCowen. In September Chorus A elected officers and representatives to choir council, which set up committees. Jay Harmon was elected president; Karen Kelley, vice-president; and Barton Whitman, secretary.

The Bellamy Award Program, which took place in the second week of October, was Chorus A's first appearance of the school year. Music of solemn beauty was provided for this patriotic program. The music of The Battle Hymn of the Republic and I Pledge Allegiance was stirring. The arrangement of America the Beautiful, sung by the chorus at the assembly's close, left the audience in hushed meditation.

Triumphs to Appreciative Audiences

During Homecoming Week mums were sold as a fund-raising project. Catchy slogans promoted the mum sale, which is a tradition of Chorus A. Three appearances were made during the Christmas season. All chorus students joined together to produce a chorus of 322 voices which performed in the Christmas program. Chorus A also appeared on KWWL television and at a Kiwanis Club meeting.

March found this energetic group singing in the Evening of Music, in which the orchestra and bands also participated. Joining with the Cedar Falls High and East High choruses, Chorus A sang in the Tri-School Music Festival under the direction of guest conductor, Charles Matheson. The final performance of Chorus A was at the Baccalaureate Service for the Class of 1963.

Plays, Contests Offer

The West High students who took part in the school speech activities received valuable experience in audience presentation. Those students who qualified in school and district speech competition went on to participate in the state-wide contest of the Iowa High School Speech Association. Fourteen individual speakers, as well as the contest play, received Division I ratings in the contest, which was held on March 30. West was also represented at the Coe Invitational Speech Contest held in January.

West students presented "Fanny and the Servant Problem" for the fall play.

Speech Experience

The four-act play, Fanny and the Servant Problem, a romantic fantasy, was presented to the public in November as the fall play. The three one-act plays, presented in the spring, included the contest play, The Importance of Being Earnest, by Oscar Wilde. A fantasy, The Ugly Duckling, by noted playwright A. A. Milne was also given. A realistic drama concerning the readjustment of a boy to society after four years of reformatory life was acted in Dino by Kristen Sergil.

The cast of the contest play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," earned a Division I rating at the State Speech Contest.

The West High auditorium was the scene of many school performances. The unsung heroes of these performances were the boys of light crew, sound crew, and stagecrafters. Lighting effects, whether used in pep assemblies or plays, were provided by the light crew. The all-important use of lighting in the Variety Show made the light crew essential in the show's production. Sound crew members also played an important role. They were responsible for the control of microphones in all assemblies as well as in the Variety Show. The stage settings for all plays and the Variety Show were the products of the work of stagecrafters. Applying their skills, the stagecrafters produced sets to be admired.

Christmas Service Reflects

Yule Spirit

Chorus, orchestra, readers, candlelighters, and bellringers presented the Christmas program in the West High tradition of beauty and reverence. The program was opened by the bellringers. As the candlelighters solemnly advanced, Becky McNally related the legend of the candle. The 322-voice chorus and the symphony orchestra presented the Christmas story in melody as readers, Judy Rugg, Maxine Schutte, and Lanny Kampfe, told it in scripture. The beauty of the program evidenced the spirit of the Christmas season.

Chorus, Orchestra, Bell Ringers, candlelighters, and readers make an impressive sight.

Swing Chorus produced outstanding musical highlights throughout the show.

In addition to accompanying dance lines and vocalists, the Swing Band played four specialty numbers of their own.

Assuming the positions of Master of Ceremonies and Swing Band Leader were Gordon Telford and Roger Dahlgaard respectively.

CRESCENDO

A dynamic evening of entertainment — this was the twentieth annual West High Variety Show, Crescendo. After months of hard work by the performers and behind the scenes personnel, the show was presented on April 4, 5, and 6. Swing Chorus, Swing Band, dance lines, and novelty acts combined with the work of key men, Gordon Telford, Master of Ceremonies, and Roger Dahlgaard, Swing Band Leader, to present an outstanding production.

Senior, Jim Herman, led the student body to a complete sell-out of tickets within a week's time. The show title was the suggestion of Joy Gellerman, while Steve Boesen designed the stage set for Crescendo.

Following tradition, Opening Line opened Crescendo with "Zip-a-dee-doo-dah."

"That Old Soft Shoe," danced by the Soft Shoe Line, was highlighted by Roger Wingert's vocal solo.

West's Tap Line provided the snappy rhythm for "Chattanooga Choo Choo."

In dance and in song, Terpsichorea and Mike Girsch interpreted "Luck Be a Lady."

West's senior boys displayed their tapping talents in "Broadway."

"Blues in the Night" featured modern dancers Kathy Sisson and Denise Dietz.

Judy Krantz and Jim Herman captured the audience's attention with their vocal duet, "You're Just in Love."

"Undecided," as performed by the Senior Girls' Precision Line, reflected the many hours of hard practice needed to perfect a dance.

The five sophomore "Charleston" dancers re-captured the spirit of the Roaring 20's.

Characterized by their charm and grace, the senior boys twirled and leaped to "Sweet, Petite and Dainty."

Colorfully costumed folk dancers danced to the familiar folk tune "Tzena."

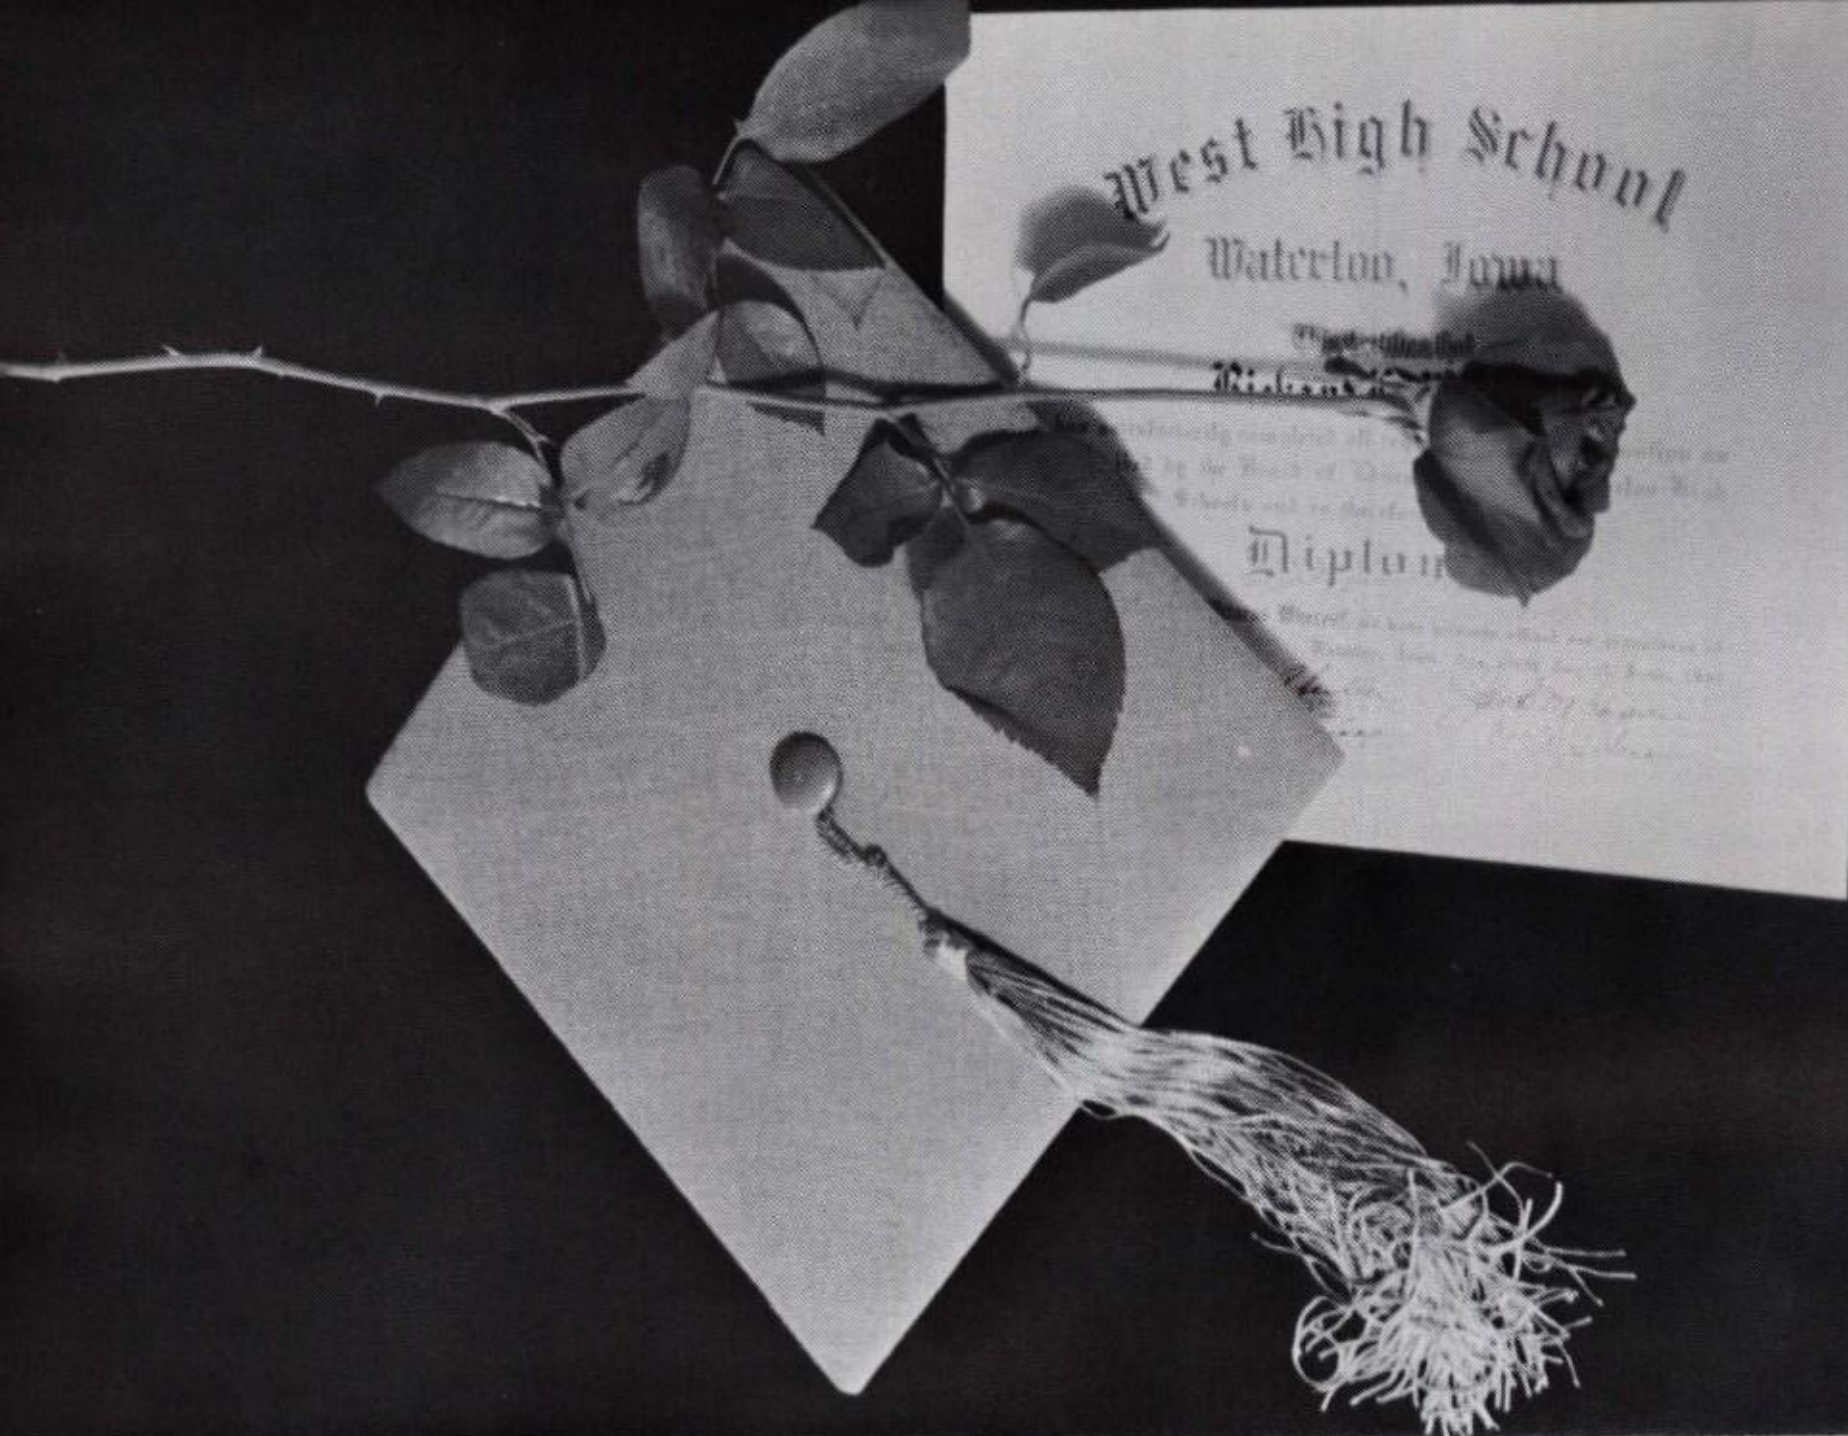

"By the Sea" was the contribution of the junior girls' dance club, Pavlovians.

West High's Girls' Trio, composed of Shirley Dudolski, Karen Kelley, and Cathy Casberg, took the spotlight in "Goody Goody."

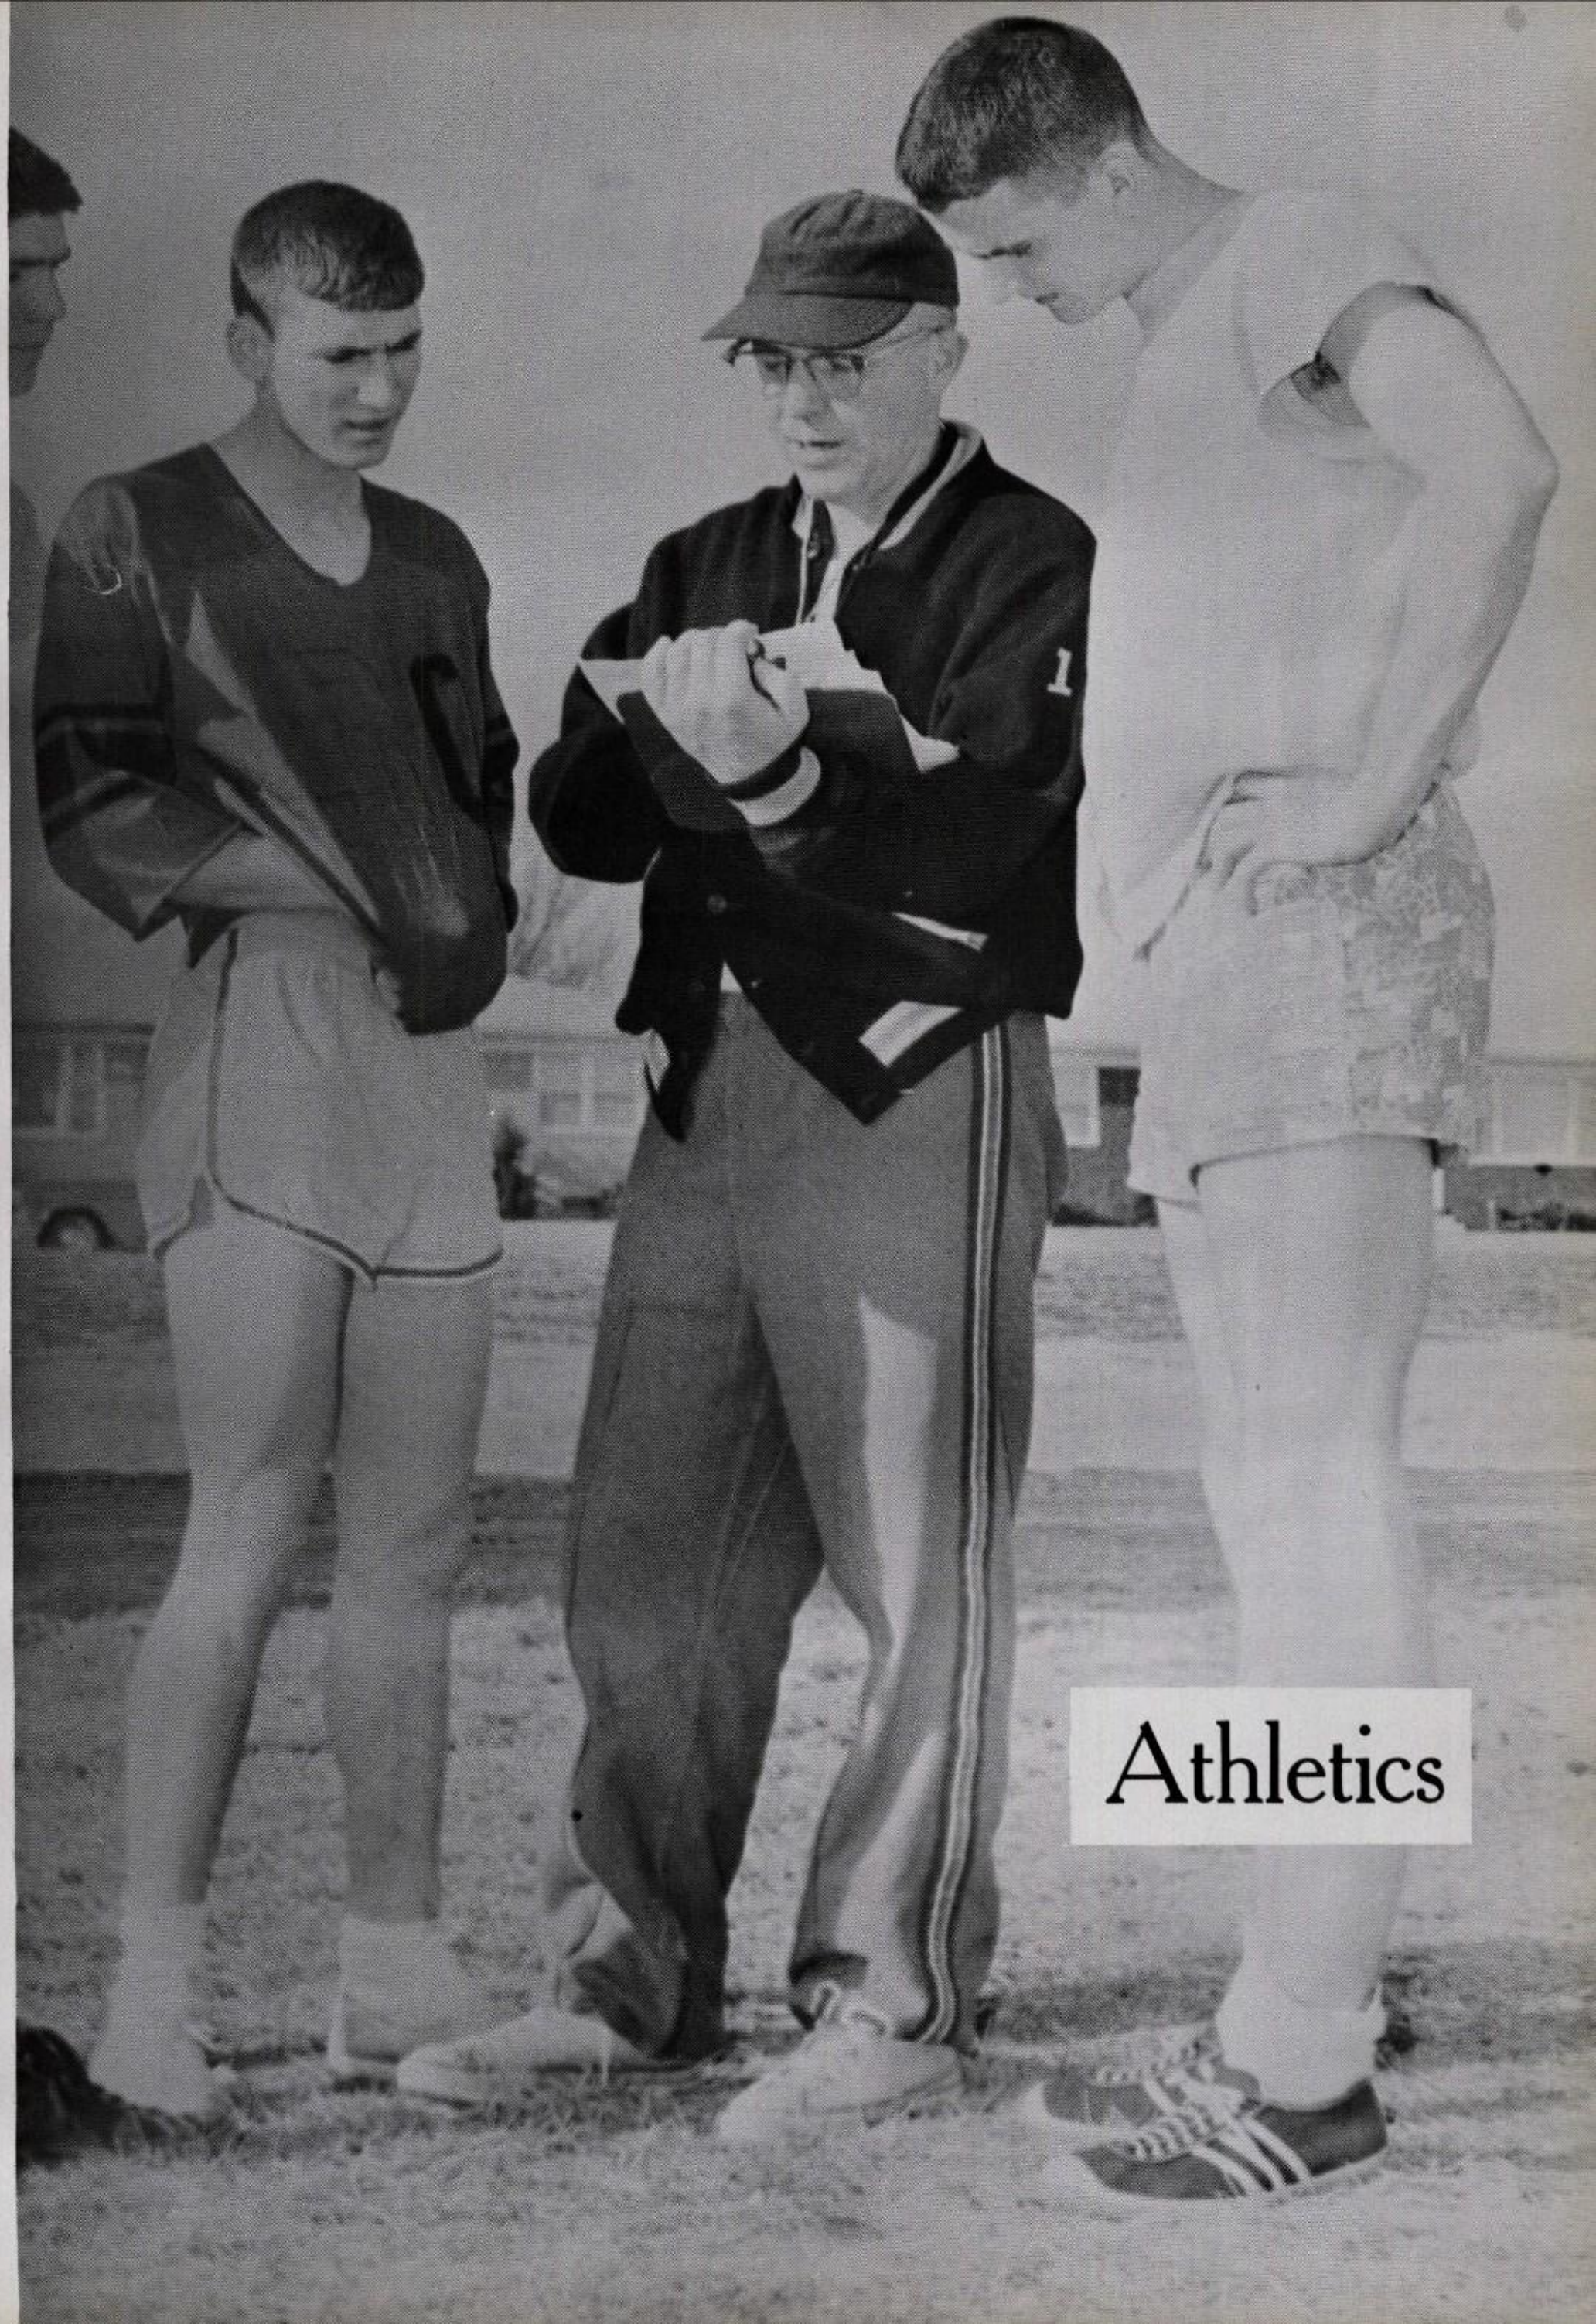

With all the spirit of Paris, West High's Can Can brought Crescendo to a dramatic conclusion.

Highlighting the West High social activities for the 1962-1963 school year was the junior-senior prom held on May 17. The Electric Park ballroom was the scene of the dance at which the Ralph Zarnow band provided the music. This year, according to the wishes indicated by junior and senior students, a new plan for the evening's events was innovated. A buffet supper was provided toward the evening's close rather than the customary dinner. Prom 1963 will be a cherished memory of those who attended.

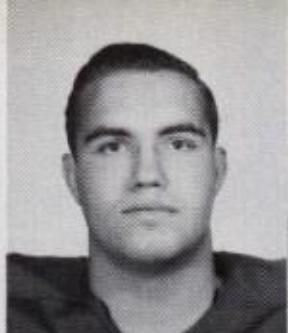

June 4 marked the end of their high school years for the 380 West High seniors who graduated as members of the Class of 1963. The activities honoring the graduating class began with the Senior Breakfast held on May 31. The Baccalaureate service was held June 2, the Sunday preceding graduation. Climaxing the high school careers of the senior class, Commencement was held on June 4. Each graduate was presented a long-stem red rose upon receiving his diploma, as is traditional.

Wahawks Battle to

The Wahawk football squad, with eight returning lettermen and tremendous spirit, opened the 1962 season with confidence. Hard work, increasing skill, and that Wahawk spirit carried the grid-ders through the first undefeated, untied season in West High's history. In the eighth game of the season, West faced the major contender for the Big Six Conference Championship, Fort Dodge. A number of goal-line stands increased the excitement of the Fort Dodge game, which West won 21-7. In the final encounter of the season, West defeated East High 27-13 to claim the City Championship, the Black Hawk County Big Four title, the Big Six Conference Championship, and the honor of an undefeated season. The Des Moines Register ranked West third in the state among high school football squads. Twenty-seven varsity players received letters at the close of the season. Expressing the pride all Wahawks felt for their football team, Mr. Gibson presented Coach George Dutcher and the entire varsity squad with pennants marking a West High first, a perfect football season.

Sophs Build Fine Team

Sixty-five sophomore boys comprised the sophomore football squad at the beginning of the season. These boys were challenged with learning to work together as a team. The 1962 season was highlighted by the victory over the East High squad in the second encounter with the Trojans. The sophomore squad, which has the potential for winning varsity squads in the next two years, ended the season with a record of five wins and three losses.

Fall Track Has Exciting Season

West High's fall track team, made up of twenty members, finished the fall season with a fine record. West took first in two dual meets with Columbus, second in two triangular meets with Cedar Falls and Columbus, and second in a quadrangular meet with Cedar Falls, Columbus, and Decorah. In the state mile team races, West placed seventh. Under Coach Victor Argotsinger, five West trackmen traveled to the state cross-country meet.

West High Archers Become National Champs

With the winning of all five of its dual meets, the West High archery team regained its status as national champion. As the competing teams were from great distances, the meets were held through the mail. In these postal meets West defeated teams from St. Charles, Missouri; San Antonio, Texas; and Windham, Connecticut. Dennis Shimp and Terry Witt proved themselves as the top archers under Mr. Eyestone's coaching.

Swimmers Continue to Improve

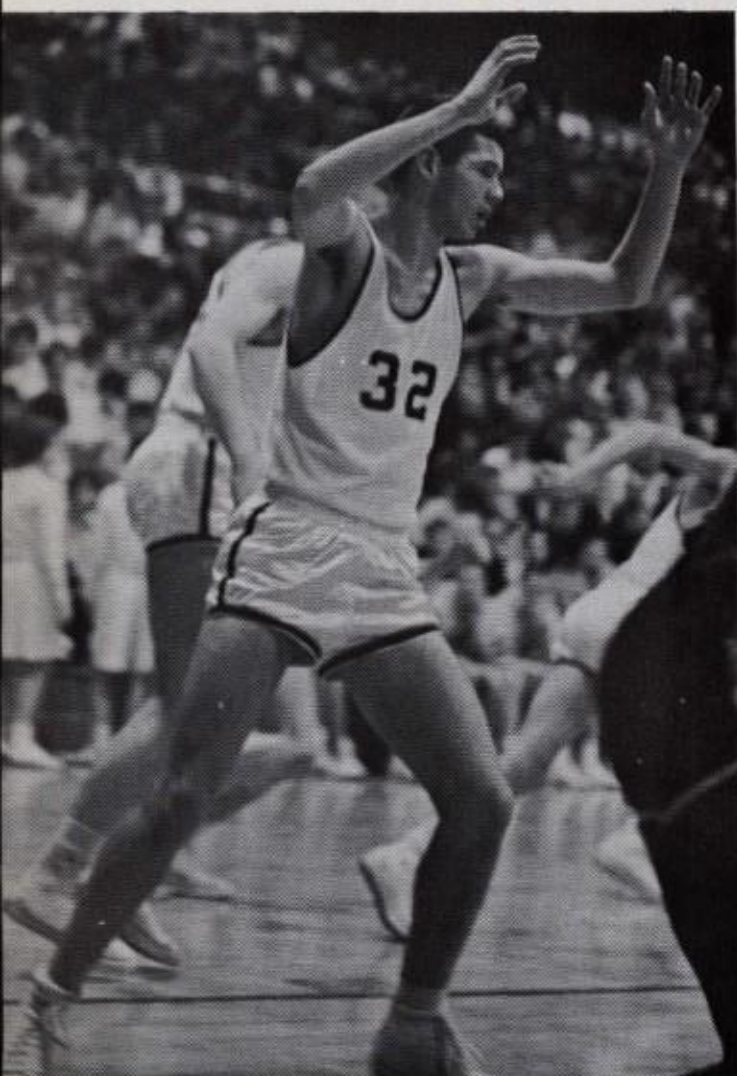

The West High swimming team opened its fourth season with nine returning lettermen. Although the season's record showed a record of three wins and six losses in nine dual meets, West faced top competition. The teams of Cedar Rapids Jefferson High, Fort Dodge, and Austin, Minnesota, presented the stiffest opposition. In the second encounter of the season with Marshalltown, West lost by a narrow margin of three points. In the final meet of the season, West tankers broke four previous pool records, winning over S. C. I. High 60-35. Bob Camarata took fourth place in the state meet in February, and Tom Bussy took seventh in the state diving competition, as West placed fourteenth in the state-wide competition. Bob Camarata and Bob Hileman were co-captains of the swimming team, coached by Mr. Alexander.

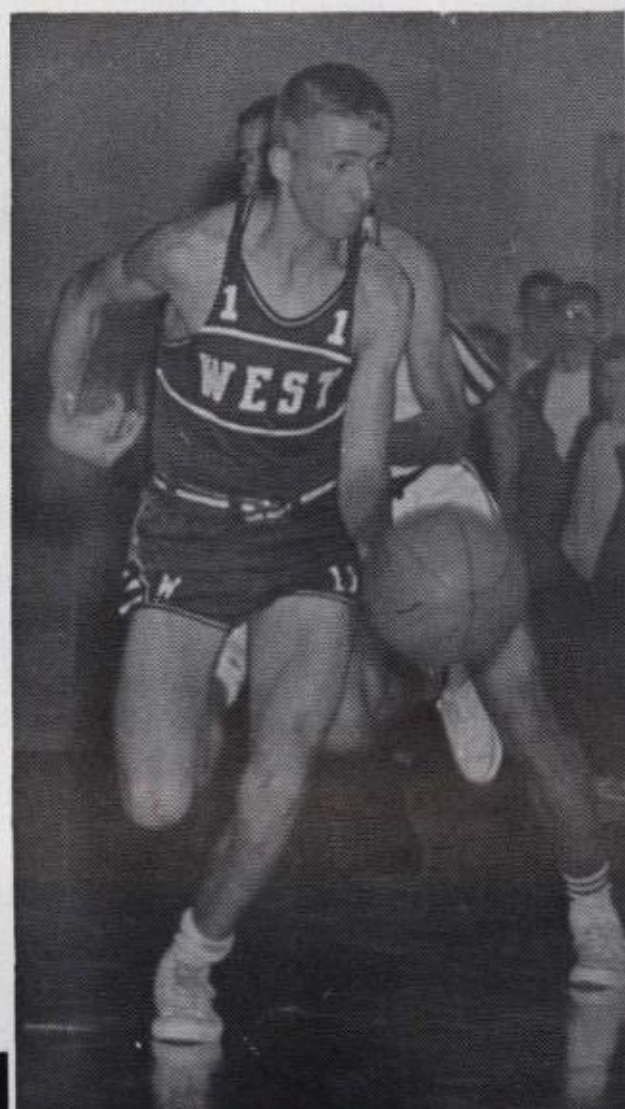

Three West swimmers spring into action in time trials for a coming meet.

Baseball Team Wins Inter-City Crown

Along with three returning lettermen, Tom Staack, John Nelson, and Rex Ross, twenty-five boys reported for the baseball team. West won the season's opener with Columbus and went on to the inter-city championship. With experienced pitchers on the mound, prospects for the 1963 season were optimistic. With twelve scheduled meets ranging from inter-city to state-wide competition, the West High trackmen faced a full season. Eighty-eight boys made up the squad, coached by Mr. Argotsinger. Thirteen returning lettermen formed the basis for a strong track team. In a triangular meet between Cedar Falls and East High, Tom Garner took first in the 440 while Tim Rogers took first in the mile. In the State Indoor Track Meet held in March, Dan Wolfe, tying for first place in the pole vault competition, took second place on the number of misses.

Lettermen Boost Girls', Boys' Golf

Bill Kahler keeps his eye on the ball.

Opening the 1963 season, the golf team was headed by three returning lettermen — senior, Kenny Caines, and juniors, Bill Kahler and John Addington. The boys were coached by Mr. Narveson. Among the teams West competed against in the eleven dual, triangular, or quadrangular meets were teams from Waverly, Cedar Rapids Washington and Jefferson, and Fort Dodge. The golfers also competed in the district tournament.

A fine season was expected from the girls' golf team. Five returning lettermen, Gail Wylie, Dolores Lohff, Ann Brecunier, Luann Hansen, and Ginger Dunning were backed by a team of sophomore, junior, and senior girls. The girls, coached by Mr. Strobridge, competed against Mason City, Dubuque, and Parkersburg and in district and state tournaments.

Girls', Boys' Tennis Face Tough Schedules

Twenty West High boys reported to Mr. Lane for the 1963 tennis season. Returning lettermen were Nick Anton, Craig Artherholt, Dave Duke, Dale Anderson, and Bill Forsberg. Nick was runner-up in singles in Big Six competition last year. Along with the Big Six competition, West faced such teams as Columbus, Charles City, Grundy Center, and Wahlert of Dubuque in fifteen meets.

The girls' tennis team was under Mr. Strobbridge's coaching. With only two returning lettermen, Leslie Loomis and Jane Hofer, the team took on a difficult challenge. Members of the team included two junior high girls. In eight dual meets the girls met Mason City, Grundy Center, Wahlert of Dubuque, and Columbus.

Varsity Club Includes West's Lettermen

Lettering in a sport qualifies a West High athlete for membership in Varsity Club. As an active group, the lettermen performed many projects of service to the school and the community. Basketball games and wrestling meets found them serving as ushers. Selling coffee, pop, and donuts at football games, washing cars, and selling Christmas wreaths were the club's fund-raising projects. In serving the community, Varsity Club collected toys for needy children during the Christmas season and also served as ushers at the Ice Capades. A dinner for the athletes and their parents was held in the spring. Gary Fergemann and John Nelson held the office of president for the first and second semesters, respectively. Mr. Siddens and Mr. Walker served as faculty advisors.

The title of Most Valuable Athlete is the highest award given in West High athletics. Dick Miller, whose record in football, basketball, and track speaks for his ability and value to West High, was this year's recipient of the coveted award. Dick's selection was based on the voting of the members of Varsity Club. As leading scorer and rusher of the undefeated West High football squad, Dick was named to the first All-State football team in his position as half-back. Scholastic Magazine also named Dick as an All-American player. In basketball Dick played as a guard on the varsity team. As a high jumper and hurdler on the track team, Dick fulfilled his status as best all-round athlete.

The dedication to West High School of principal, Mr. W. W. Gibson, is evidenced by the high standard of educational quality which West maintains.

American education has many institutions and traditions, not the least of which is the high school yearbook. To those in West High School, the WAHAWK should be considered a most prized possession, since it reflects the year in which it is published. Long after events and persons may be forgotten, this publication will recall to mind the school year of 1962-63, its successes, its disappointments, and its achievements. Thus, as long as he may live, the student will have in permanent form this record which mirrors his friendships and associations with classmates and faculty.

May I congratulate the staff on this very fine volume.

MR. WILLIAM W. GIBSON
West High School Principal

As vice-principal of an expanding high school, Mr. E. W. Kersenbrock assumed a large responsibility. Besides assisting Mr. Gibson with administration chores, Mr. Kersenbrock was in charge of the lighting for public auditorium performances, discipline, and cafeteria finance.

MR. E. W. KERSENBROCK
Vice-Principal

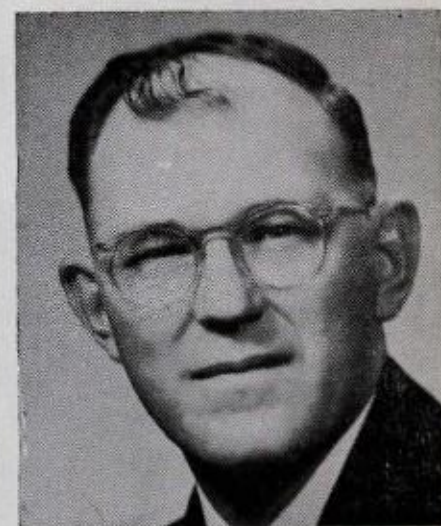

DR. GEORGE W. HOHL
Superintendent of Schools

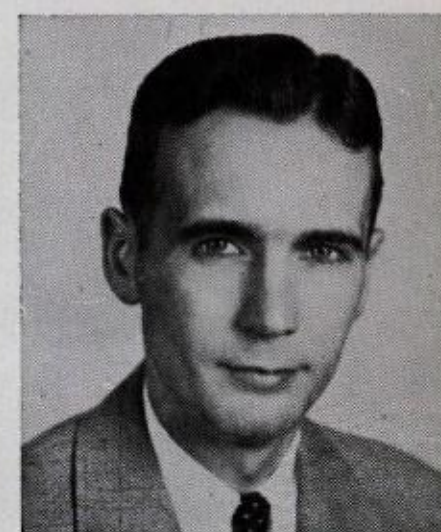

The smooth operation of the Waterloo schools depended heavily on the abilities and devoted efforts of our new Superintendent of Schools, Dr. George W. Hohl. Coming to Waterloo on July 1, 1962, from Passaic, New Jersey, he capably demonstrated his ability to assume the responsibilities inherent in his position.

Mrs. W. H. Rehder

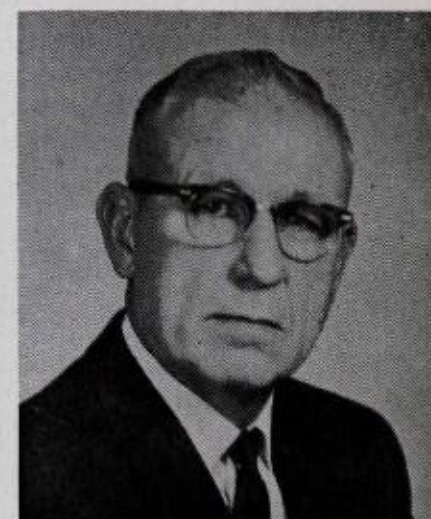

Mr. Stewart R. Seidler

Mr. Sydney A. Thomas

Mr. Ernest W. Barker, Director of Curriculum, was instrumental in keeping curriculum standards up-to-date. He was also recognized at West High as a favorite open house speaker and loyal supporter.

Special Services Offer Guidance and Aid

Providing personal guidance or aid are the faculty members who render special services. The positions of school nurse and school librarian are essential to the school. A number of students are taught through the special education program. Ready to advise West High students, the guidance counselors aid the individual student in meeting personal problems and planning for the future.

The importance of the role of mathematics and the sciences in our progress-minded world is undeniable. Through the courses offered in these fields at West, students form a sound knowledge on which to base personal use and future study. Plane and solid geometry, algebra, and trigonometry are offered in mathematics. Biology, physics, and chemistry are part of the science program.

Seeing is believing — especially in biology class.

Social Studies, Foreign Languages Broaden Understanding

Understanding between nations is essential for world peace. Through studying a country's language, an insight into its culture and the lives of its people is given. This year, Russian was added to the foreign language courses offered at West High.

Through the social studies courses, students learn to relate the history of the world and the study of the structures of society to modern times. An appreciation of our freedom is developed through the study of American history, which is required.

A basic knowledge of the map is important to a complete understanding.

English Emphasizes Communication Skills

A strong English department is a necessity as a basic knowledge of the English language is important in any occupation. An understanding of grammar and vocabulary is the key to successful communication of ideas. The school-wide program for studying vocabulary words extends the word-usage power of students. The studies of American and English literature acquaint students with literary greats. The ability to express thoughts clearly in writing and speech is also developed.

Future Preparations Provide Experience

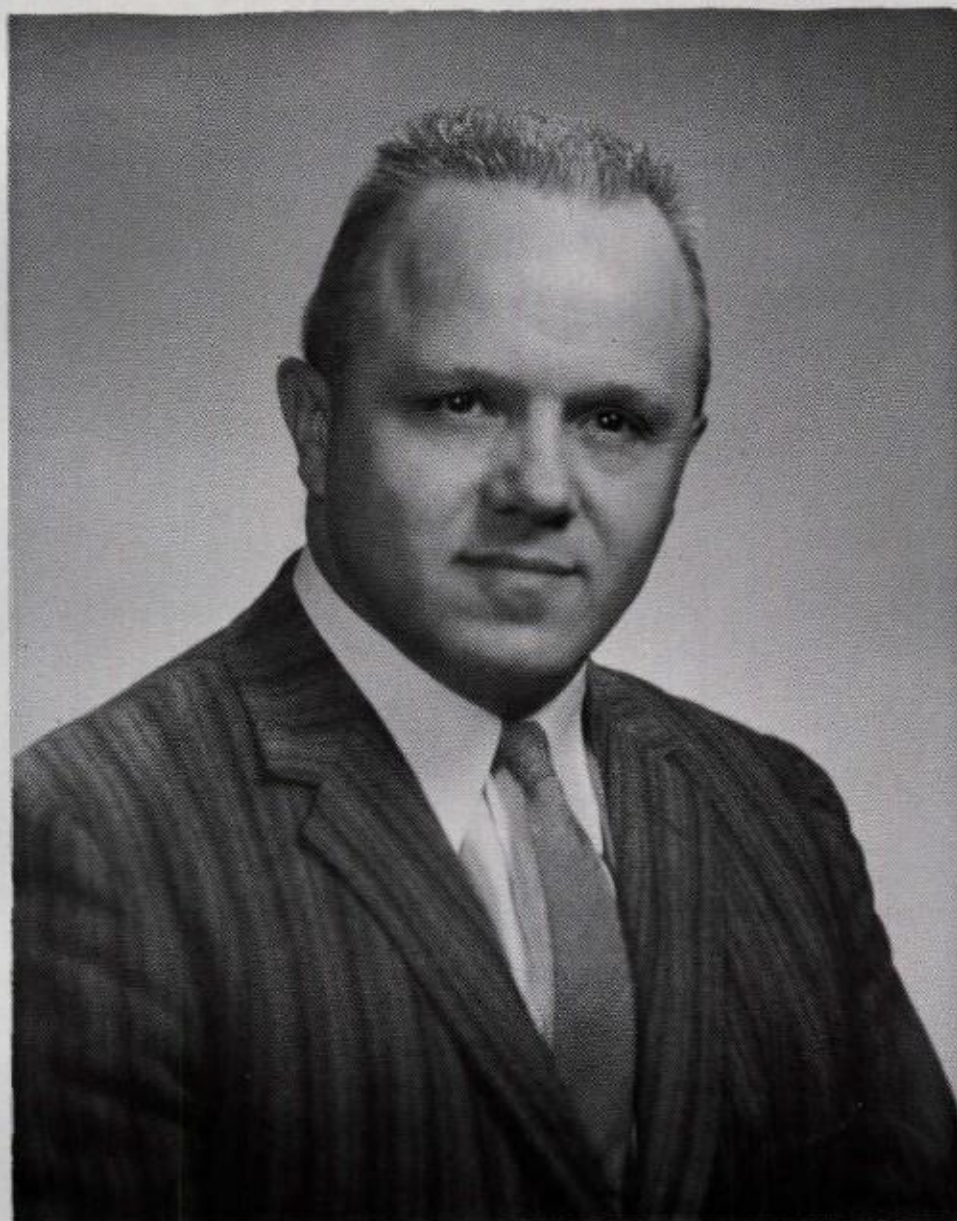

Students who wish to begin training for vocations while in school may benefit through courses and programs offered at West. The Co-op and the Trades and Industries programs combine study at West with part-time employment. Shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, and retailing prepare students for clerical vocations. The homemaking classes offer high school girls training for their future roles as homemakers. The boys who take courses in shop and mechanical or architectural drawing learn valuable skills. Driver training is a program which teaches correct driving techniques to aid students in qualifying for driver's licenses.

Duplicating machines are important in any large organization.

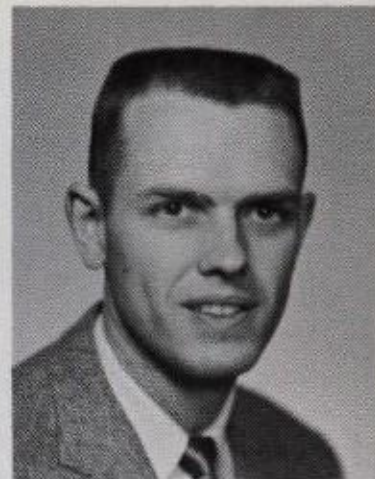

IN MEMORIAM

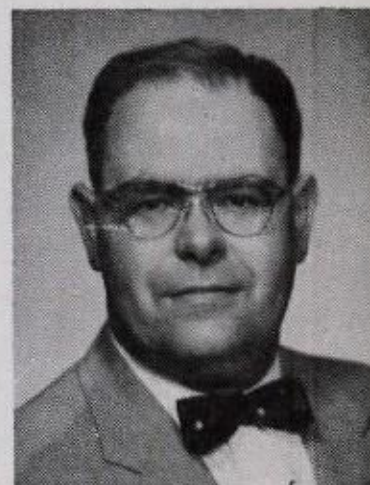

MR. DONALD WIELAND

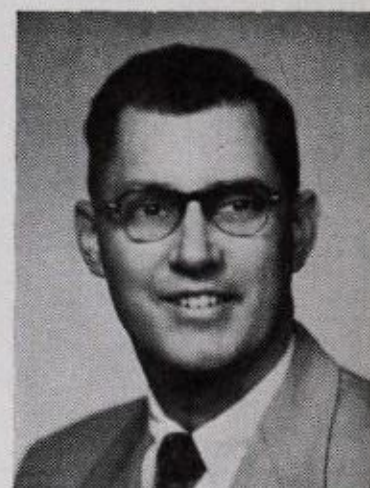

On March 16, 1963, the students and faculty of West High experienced a profound loss in the death of Mr. Donald Wieland, instructor of industrial arts. A fatal auto accident near Hampton, Iowa, marked the end of his nineteen years of outstanding service at West. Not only was Mr. Wieland an excellent teacher, but he was known for his cheerfulness, his consideration of others, and his willingness to assist in all school activities. He will not soon be forgotten.

Fine Arts, Phys. Ed. Develop Skills

The fine arts courses at West High include chorus, band, orchestra, and art. Excellent musical performances are the result of the training by and leadership of dedicated directors. In art proper techniques are taught, and promising artists develop their potentials.

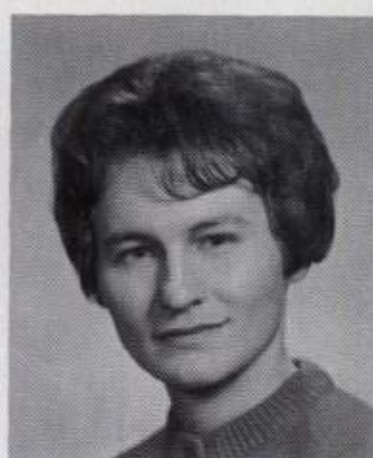

Physical fitness among students is the aim of physical education, which is required. Participating in team sports promotes good sportsmanship. Exercising and active sports promote good health.

Physical education classes are important to the development of a sound body.

Seniors Graduate With Fond Memories

Three years ago we entered West High, bewildered by a new building and many new faces. We soon became a part of the West High tradition, with our participation in athletics, pep assemblies, and school activities. Homecoming, East-West games, the Christmas service, and Variety Show are a few of the activities we will always remember. In and out of class we were given opportunities to excel. After our hours of homework, we shared the fun of parties and mixers. Our efforts as underclassmen were rewarded by having Torben Ivarsson as a member of our senior class. We will always remember the Bellamy Award Ceremonies as part of our senior year. Now we are ready for commencement into still broader worlds, better prepared for life by our years at West High.

On June 4, we, the three hundred-eighty members of the class of 1963, will complete a significant chapter in our lives, and the present reality of our high school careers will merge into past memory. That we should pause here in commemoration of our three years at West is fitting. As seniors taking our places in the annals of West High history, we have established a storehouse of experiences. The challenges accepted, the achievements accomplished, and the recognition won as sophomores, juniors, and seniors are measure of a full and useful period in our lives.

As we receive our diplomas and alert ourselves to new and promising tomorrows, we will cherish these high school days as a solid foundation for a satisfying future. An ending and a beginning are now upon us. And so with sadness, tempered by optimistic anticipation, we salute you, West High, and say farewell.

Judy Krantz, Editor
